206 PERSONS RESCUED OUT OF 328 ON VESTRIS

RAILWAY CENTRE IN ARGENTINA WRECKED BY VIOLENT STORM

Forty-One Dead Reported and About One Hundred and Fifty Injured—Casualties Expected to Reach a Much Higher Total With Further Search of Town and Its Vicinity

Little Information Available Until Communications Restored

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 13.—Forty-one persons were reported killed and about 150 injured by a violent cyclone which this evening wrecked Villa Maria, a city of 20,000 people, and swept across the surrounding country. Destruction of means of communication made it difficult to obtain details. The casualties are expected to reach a much higher total with a further search of the wreckage of the town and with the restoration of communications with the countryside.

A relief train carrying physicians and nurses to cope with the grave emergency is on its way to Villa Maria. The cyclone lasted little more than an hour, but in that time wholly or partially wrecked nearly all of the buildings of the town, blowing many of them flat. Many inhabitants were said to have been buried in the debris. Besides the loss of human life and damage to habitations, a large part of the crop in the region was said to be ruined.

SIX MEN LOST IN NORTHLAND

AIRPLANES FLY IN SEARCH OVER WILDS NORTH OF HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

Party Left Fort Churchill Ten Days Ago to Walk to End of Steel—Had Five Days' Food

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—While bending every effort to locate the party of six or seven men who ten days ago left Fort Churchill on a trek across seventy miles of barren country to the end of steel on the Hudson Bay Railway, the Department of Railways and Canals, for which the men were working, was without word of their movements today.

Ever since it became apparent that the party had wandered off the trail, determined effort has been made to find them. Airplanes have carried out several flights from separate bases at Deer Lake and Lake Rosabelle, while land parties have been dispatched from a camp at Mile 465, and Mile 441, from which points trails will be made or other signs placed at intervals of several hundred yards, from the Deer River to Churchill River.

When the missing men left Churchill they carried with them about five days' supplies of food. They also were equipped with blankets and warm clothing.

Complete Victory Won in Senate by Premier Poincare

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The forces of Premier Poincare scored a signal victory in the Senate today in their first encounter with the new opposition, when former Premier Caillaux, Radical, was overwhelmingly defeated for membership in the finance committee to which he belonged during all his political life.

The Poincare supporters say that Caillaux was the man behind the scenes during the recent Radical congress at Angers, and was responsible for the resignation of the Poincare Cabinet a week ago. Consequently they are jubilant at winning this new round over Caillaux.

GENERAL McRAE WILL WORK TWO YEARS AS GIFT

Final Decision Made to Accede to Request of Leader and Take Charge of Party Organization

TAKES NO SALARY; AND PAYS HIS WAY

(Special to The Colonist)

OTTAWA, Oct. 13. — While in Ottawa on Saturday, Major-General A. D. McRae acceded to Hon. R. B. Bennett's request and will supervise the Conservative national organization for two years, beginning in January. He is doing this at a great sacrifice and without remuneration by either salary or expenses.

Since the successful Winnipeg convention there has been a unanimous desire in the Conservative Party that General McRae will take charge of the organization. His severe accident last Spring prevented him making any decision, but now completely recovered in health, and having so arranged his large business interests as to permit of his absence, he will join with Hon. R. B. Bennett in preparing the party for the next contest.

General McRae, in politics, the army and in business, has displayed remarkable organizing ability, and Mr. Bennett is highly gratified and encouraged in prevailing on him to devote his time to the party welfare. No plans have been announced, but it is believed he will work through the provincial Conservative organizations.

MISSING GIRL FOUND

Bourgeois, who disappeared November 9, after entering an automobile near her home, and who it was feared had been kidnapped, has been located in Chilliwack, according to word received late this afternoon. Three youths, according to telegraph word to the police, have been arrested on charges of auto theft.

Terminal for Hydroplanes Is Proposed

Establishment of a municipal airport for seaplanes and hydroplanes is proposed by the Victoria Petroleum Company, Limited, which, in a letter to the City Council last night, offered to bear a share of the cost of establishing the facilities.

Officials of the company pointed out that at the present time there were no terminal facilities here for seaplanes or hydroplanes; that Captain Barnes, the United States air mail pilot, at the present time had only a makeshift landing near the Brackman-Ker wharf and that only recently a visiting hydroplane was caused some inconvenience in landing here.

The Victoria Petroleum Company said that if the city would set aside its reverted land between the Raymond wharf and the British-American Paint Company docks, it would be willing to bear the expense of putting in the landings and marking out the landing course.

The matter was referred to the industrial committee for report. A seaplane terminal will have to be found soon for the B.C. Airways, Limited, is ordering two eight-passenger seaplanes with which to operate a service between Victoria, Nanaimo and Vancouver.

NOBEL AWARDS MADE

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 13.—Sigrid Undset, Norwegian authoress, was today awarded the 1928 Nobel prize for literature by the Swedish Academy. The 1927 literature prize also was awarded today, to Henri Bergson.

Mme. Sigrid Undset became known to the English-speaking world through her novel, "Kristin Lavransdatter," published in 1920. It deals with conditions in the fourteenth century and is typical of her ability to set forth the mind of the middle ages. Henri Bergson, winner of the 1927 Nobel prize, award of which was postponed, is a naturalized Frenchman. His chief claim to fame has been the evolution of a radically novel system of philosophy.

The Nobel prizes for literature are this year worth $42,060 each. This is a new record in valuation.

CO-OPERATIVE PARLEY URGED

Government Asked to Call Meeting of Farmers, Marketing Authorities and Officials

SUGGESTION MADE BY J. E. ARMISHAW

A round table conference of farmers, co-operative association officials, educational organizations, deputy ministers of departments dealing with industry, and others, was suggested by Mr. J. E. Armishaw, of Sayward, in a meeting with members of the executive council yesterday afternoon. He asked the Government to call this meeting in the interests of production and marketing, the personnel to be representative of the Prairies and British Columbia, so that many difficulties could be straightened out.

Mr. Armishaw laid before the Cabinet in the brief time at his disposal the results of his tour of Alberta and Saskatchewan in the interests of the United Farmers' movement, of which he is the organizer in British Columbia. He pointed out that the Prairie Provinces, through their Governments, were helping the co-operative movement in agriculture, and that a department of co-operation and marketing had come into existence in at least one Prairie Province, which might suggest ideas for agricultural expansion in British Columbia.

To protect the consuming public, trade prices should be regulated by Mr. Armishaw advocated that retail the grading system which prevailed for payment to the primary producer, so that better meat and other produce would be available to the average consumer at a graded standard of prices applicable on quality.

It was resolved that the Ministers of Lands and Agriculture should meet Mr. Armishaw individually today on points raised during the discussion.

STORM SWEEPS ALL BOATS OFF VESSEL

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 13.—A message received here tonight by Coastguard headquarters from the steamship K. R. Kingsbury, said that she had passed the four-masted schooner Anna M. Heidritter at latitude 81.58 North and 75.08 West longitude. The schooner had lost all her boats and her master requested food and boats from the Coastguard. She was under easy sail, and headed west-southwest. She carried a crew of about fourteen.

VISITOR HERE FROM LONELY POLICE POST

INJURY TO WIFE REASON FOR TRIP

Mrs. Barber First White Woman to Enter Wilderness Beyond All Signs of Civilization

FROM Fort Nelson, loneliest outpost of the British Columbia police, Corp. C. G. Barber has arrived in the city and is registered at the Dominion Hotel. Fort Nelson is fourteen days' travel from the nearest point of contact with civilization, Fort Saint John, in the Peace River district.

When Corporal Barber, who has had eight years' experience in the North, and many years' association with police duties, first went into the district to establish a police post two years ago, he took with him his wife, who was the first white woman to enter that remote section of the northeastern corner of the province, and also a constable. Since that time, until they reached Fort Saint John on the way out, their only contact with civilization has been the annual call of a Hudson's Bay Company boat in the month of July.

HOME OF LOGS

The two men had to construct their home out of logs, the distance prohibiting the movement of lumber into the wilderness. Food supplies are so high in price that ordinary police pay would not begin to cover necessaries, and for that reason the post is rationed.

When Corporal Barber first went into the country, flour was retailing at Fort Nelson at $75 a hundredweight, and now it is down to $26 per 100 pounds, due, not so much to improved transportation as to independent traders entering the country from the east and south.

In the vast wilderness of the Fort Nelson country snow lies on the ground for seven months, and for six months travel is by dog train, the waterways being used as far as possible for intercommunication, by canoe in the Summer and by dog team over the ice until the end of April. Cross-country travel is difficult, the only inhabitants being trappers who come to the scattered posts for supplies, Mr. Barber explains.

LAVA SUPPLIED AT HIGH PRICE

Worst of Twelve-Day Outbreak Is Over, but Lava Still Moves—Main Road Blocked

CATANIA, Sicily, Nov. 13.—Scientists and non-expert observers agreed today that the demon of Mount Etna probably had wrought its worst from the present twelve-day eruption of the volcano. They found, moreover, that the loss probably would aggregate about $18,500,000. The work of reconstruction has already been planned, chiefly in the way of mapping out new transportation routes around the fresh lava deposits.

ARTERY BLOCKED

The Italian Engineer Corps, which has been busy for ten days, found itself confronted with another task this afternoon. The lava reached the road over which passengers had been ferried in automobiles to trains on the other side of the main lava stream. This shut off that route of communication between Messina and Catania. The engineers started construction of a new road 150 feet below the demolished one. The route is essential for maintenance of the economic life of Sicily's four million population.

In reaching the total damage figures, nearly $8,500,000 were allowed for devastation of forests, about $3,000,000 for destruction of agricultural lands, and more than $2,500,000 for interruption of traffic and consequent loss of commerce. Destruction of buildings, roads, bridges, railways and wire lines made up the balance.

Two Hundred and Six of Passengers and Crew Have Been Taken From Boats by Rescue Vessels—Five Bodies Have Been Picked Up—No Others Accounted For

Search Still Continues Through Second Night

Life Raft Is Sought For and Pieces of Wreckage Which May Support Survivors — Estimated Number Still Missing Is About 120 and Includes Captain

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The second night after her 328 passengers and crew abandoned the Lamport & Holt liner Vestris in a sinking condition, found 206 persons aboard rescue craft, some of which were steaming toward port. One hundred and twenty-two were still unaccounted for in an official compilation made by the owners of the Vestris. A lone liferaft from the ill-fated steamer Vestris, and bits of wreckage that might support other survivors on the wind-tossed seas off the Virginia capes, were being sought out by the searchlights of rescue craft late last night.

Dispatches that filtered through the ether from rescue ships, said that six lifeboats had been found, and in one of them was the crew of a seventh lifeboat which capsized. The battleship Wyoming, which had picked up some of the survivors, reported through a wrecking tug that all the lifeboats that were launched by the Vestris had been accounted for, and a message from four destroyers that also were continuing the search, announced that one lifecraft still was adrift.

Officials of the Lambert & Holt Line, owners of the illfated steamer Vestris, said tonight that they were without news of the fate of Captain William Carey, master, and Noel Laughlin, wireless operator of the ship.

BODIES FOUND

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The recovery of five bodies of the victims of the sinking of the steamer Vestris by two Coastguard vessels was reported by radio tonight to the Navy Department by Vice-Admiral Taylor, on board the battleship Wyoming, one of the rescue craft.

The Coastguard vessel Tucker recovered the body of a negro, and the Coastguard destroyer Manning picked up four bodies.

UNACCOUNTED FOR

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 13.—Commander C. F. Howell, chief of staff for the Norfolk Coastguard division, after summing up reports from various ships engaged in picking up survivors from the sunken steamer Vestris, stated tonight that there are yet 129 persons unaccounted for.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Lamport & Holt Line, owners of the steamer Vestris, tonight issued an official statement, announcing 206 persons had been rescued and 122 still were unaccounted for.

The company said the passenger list numbered 129 and the crew 199, making a grand total of 328 persons who were on board the vessel.

Three Canadians are among those rescued: S. Cox, Montreal; Edward Walcott, Halifax; and A. C. Patterson, Edmonton.

NEW ZEALAND VOTERS TODAY MARK BALLOTS

Three Parties in Field — Entrance of United Party Is Expected to Aid Present Official Opposition

212 CANDIDATES FOR EIGHTY SEATS

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 13.—The New Zealand parliamentary elections are to be held tomorrow, with Premier Gordon Joseph Coates leading the Conservative or Reform party in a three-party fight. He seeks renewal of the confidence on the Government record in the past difficult and depressed years. Arrayed against the Government are the Labor party, led by Harry Holland, which formed the official opposition in the last Parliament, and the United party, recently organized by the remnant of the old Liberal party, under the leadership of former Premier Sir Joseph Ward.

The effect of the United party's attempt at revival under the former Liberal Prime Minister is expected to some extent to split voting strength, probably in favor of the Labor party.

In the 1925 general election, the Government won fifty-five of the eighty seats in the House of Representatives, the Labor party, thirteen; Liberals and Independent Liberals, eleven, and Independents, one. Two hundred and eleven candidates are contesting the seventy-six "European" seats in the House, and nineteen are contesting the four Maori seats. By parties the candidates are: Government, sixty-eight; Labor, fifty-seven; United Party, fifty-five; Independents and miscellaneous, thirty-two.

GOV. SMITH REVIVES

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Governor Alfred E. Smith told the country over the radio tonight that the principles of the Democratic party were as great in defeat as they would have been in victory and that it was the party's duty "to carry on and vindicate" the principles for which it had fought.

Gen. B. Booth Reported as Sinking Fast

LONDON, Nov. 14. — General Bramwell Booth, according to some of the morning papers, is sinking fast. The head of the Salvation Army has been suffering from nervous prostration and his condition late last night was said to be very grave.

STILL NEGOTIATING

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Negotiations are still proceeding between himself, the steamship companies and migration bodies, stated W. J. Egan, Canadian Deputy Minister of Immigration, when he was questioned on his return from the Continent today, on the progress being made towards establishment of a flat rate of $50 for third class ocean passage from Britain to Canada.

Conservatives Of Vancouver Elect Officers

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—Election of a complete new executive, featured the annual meeting here tonight of the Vancouver Conservative Association. J. E. Merryfield was elected president and the other officers chosen were: Vice-presidents, E. G. Sherwood, Alderman John Bennett and W. S. Holland; secretary, Walter Haskins; treasurer, A. J. C. Weeks; representatives to the British Columbia Conservative Association, Dr. Alfred Thompson, Charles Jones, H. W. Sellars, H. M. Harper, J. J. Whalen and Charles Laing.

The meeting was the largest ever held in Vancouver by the association, there being 1,350 votes cast.

SHIPS STORMBOUND AT SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13. — Whipping the ocean into a fury which forced shipping to seek shelter, the advance guard of Winter moved in on the Pacific Coast today. Considerable damage was reported from flood waters in San Francisco, which was swept by occasional showers of almost cloudburst proportions.

Four vessels were turned back by breakers on the bar just outside Golden Gate. They were the Admiral Dewey, bound for Portland; Georgian, for Seattle; San Juan, for Los Angeles, and Seattle, for Seattle.

FRUITGROWERS TO TALK WITH GRAINGROWERS

Representatives of B.C. Association to Confer With Prairie Farm Organization Leaders

SEEK ACCORD ON DUMPING DUTIES

KELOWNA, B.C., Nov. 13.—Owing to the necessity of leading officials of the various fruitgrowers' organizations going to Toronto shortly, the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association executive have deferred sending the delegation which it was proposed should visit the Prairie Provinces at once, to set forth their views in favor of a dumping duty on vegetables and fruits. The delegation will hold round table conferences at Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary with leaders of farm organizations, wheat pool officials, boards of trade, and others, with the purpose of fully acquainting the Prairie people with what they believe to be the necessity for an amendment in the Dominion Customs Act, which will provide emergency protection against dumping in seasons such as the present, when Canadian producers have suffered because of dumping on the market surplus American fruits and vegetables.

EASTERN CONFERENCE ALSO

The case for the producers will not be fully developed until the officials have discussed tariff matters with the representatives of the Eastern fruit producers.

In a resolution outlining in a general way the line to be adopted by the delegation in the discussions with the Prairie people, it was made clear that what is required to insure more satisfactory returns for producers is the continuance in force of the present general tariff practically as it stands, and the provision of the additional emergency duty when this is necessary to prevent temporary overcrowding of the market with perishable commodities.

MAROONED ON WAY IN

With his wife, when they went in, they were marooned by adverse weather in a small post for many days with nothing but a little rice and some potatoes to eat, and were unable to reach Fort Nelson for many days. When they got away it was necessary for the corporal to travel fifty miles to obtain supplies, and so he had to house and feed the party before they could do anything.

The police quarters at this post have been built entirely by the two men, and a little paid labor, during the past two years.

NURSE AND HOUSEWIFE

Mrs. Barber has had to turn nurse as well, to take care of sick persons, two of whom would have died but for the attention they received at the police post.

The immediate necessity of coming out at this time is that Mrs. Barber has a broken wrist, for which medical aid was requisite. The corporal says the best time in which the round journey from Fort Saint John to Fort Nelson and return has been accomplished is thirty-five days.

granted timber on Vancouver Island in the vicinity of Comox and Courtenay. These tracts have been controlled by General McRae for many years and are said to be among the most valuable of the Coast.

The deal reported closed today has been pending for a long time. It is stated by associates of General McRae. In fact, it was believed to have been closed some time ago.

General McRae was also interested in a number of smaller holdings and mills in the mountains, including a mill and limits near Golden, and it is understood here that these are included in the sale to British interests.

Lord Cecil Proposes Plan for Disarmament

MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 13.—"We ought to say at the appropriate moment to the United States, 'We are with you; we are prepared for equality; we accept the basis you put before us; let the equality extend to ships and guns alike, and we shall be satisfied.'"

This was the declaration of Viscount Cecil, of Chelmwood, former Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, speaking here today.

"That is the sound basis for agreement," he continued. If it could be achieved it would be a worthy sequel to the peace pact and a great glory to the English-speaking countries of the world."

BERTHIER CHAPEL TO BE RESTORED

Hugh Mackay, K.C., Takes Initiative in Saving Historical Building Built in 1786

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—All Canadians interested in the preservation of historic buildings will be gratified to learn that the Cuthbert Chapel at Berthier is at last receiving the attention it deserves. This unique relic of ecclesiastical history, as explained in The Montreal Gazette of May 10, 1926, is the second oldest Protestant church in Canada, the oldest being St. Paul's Halifax, built in 1750. But while St. Paul's is an Anglican church, the chapel at Berthier was built for the service of the Church of Scotland, so that this tiny edifice, thirty-eight feet long and twenty-five feet wide, bears the honor of being the first Presbyterian church in Canada.

The founding of the chapel is recorded on a large stone slab inserted in the masonry on the south side of the building. It reads:

This Chapel was erected by
The HONBLE. JAMES CUTHBERT, ESQR.
Lord of the Manor
of Berthier, Lanoral, Dautry, New York, Maskinonge, etc.
And the first built since the conquest of New
FRANCE, 1760
And in memory of Catherine Cuthbert, his spouse, who died March the 7th, 1785, age 40 years, Mother of three sons and seven daughters, 19 years married.

Caroline, one of her daughters, is interred in the West end of this Chapel near her mother, she was a good wife, a tender mother, her death was much lamented by her family and acquaintance.
ANNO DOMINI 1786.

The Hon. James Cuthbert was born at Castle Hill, near Aberdeen, Scotland, and traced his ancestry back to the Norman conquest. He came to Canada as a captain, and at his death held the rank of colonel. A good Presbyterian, he brought out with him a Scotch minister who acted in the dual capacity of chaplain to his family and tutor to his children. The little chapel, which Cuthbert built in memory of his wife on the grounds of his estate, he dedicated to the patron saint of his native land, so that it was the first of the long line of St. Andrew's Presbyterian churches in Canada.

CHAPEL DESCRIBED

An account published in The Dominion Illustrated in 1891 gives a description of the chapel as it appeared at that time, and even before then. This account says, in part:

"In the middle of the wall of the east end was a very tastefully and neatly executed pulpit, surmounted by a covering or canopy, and ascended by a straight staircase. There were no pews. The members of the family and other worshippers of position occupied the floor of the chapel in front of the pulpit, seated on chairs. An elevated gallery, about ten feet wide, at the other end, was devoted to the servants. There were no permanent stairs to ascend, a movable set of steps being used. The family burial place was under this gallery, the interments being made with the heads of the deceased to the wall of the church.

"The last seigneur informed me that it was not definitely known who have here found their last resting place, nor the precise locality of interment. Besides the Cuthberts, there are some members of the Antrobus family here interred. On the wall is a tasteful, and dignified for that time, monumen to Alexander Cuthbert, son of Captain Cuthbert, who died on the 9th of January, 1810, aged forty-two years. The material of this memorial is wood, the inscription on an oval, under a kind of pediment, and below is a text on a piece of drapery."

On the south wall was another tablet which read:

JAMES CUTHBERT, ESQ.,
Only son of the Hon. Ross Cuthbert, Seigneur of Lanorale and Dautrie.
Died 30th March, 1842,
Aged 42 years.

This was a nephew of the founder of the chapel. Others buried in the earth beneath the chapel floor were the Hon. James himself, Georgina, daughter of Major Forneret, Edouard Octavian Cuthbert, and still others whose names are unknown.

Such was the appearance of the chapel when the seigneur of Berthier with his family and friends attended divine service within its walls. But when the manor house was destroyed the old building was allowed to fall gradually into decay. Even in 1891 the gallery had disappeared, and the windows had already been closed up, although the tablets and pulpit were still in place. It was probably shortly after this time that the sacred edifice began to be used as a cowshed. The years went on, and the decay of the chapel became more and more complete.

Until a few weeks ago it presented a sorry picture indeed. It stood, deserted and forlorn, in the middle of a flat field, about 200 yards from the road that runs from the manor grounds into the village of Berthier. There was not even a road of any description connecting it with the highway. Trees grow all around it, so close that their roots had made great cracks in the stone walls, and half the northeast corner had fallen away. The windows, once large and round-headed, were almost entirely walled up, and the doorway stood open to the elements. On entering, the scene that met the eye was even more eloquent of desolation and decay than the exterior. There was no floor, just earth, littered with bits of wall-plaster and rubbish upon which the light of day filtered down through the holes in the roof. Of furniture there was none, but marks on the wall showed where the pulpit had once stood, and where the memorial tablet had been placed in honor of James Cuthbert.

MONEY SUBSCRIBED

The chapel had been in this deplorable condition for many years, when Hugh Mackay, K.C., of Montreal, set about restoring it. He brought it to the notice of several Montrealers, and he and they together subscribed a sum sufficient to pay for temporary repairs. He requested two architects, Prof. Ramsay Traquair, F.R.I.B.A., head of the Department of Architecture at McGill, and P. R. Wilson, A.R.I.B.A., to examine the building and make suggestions for its preservation. They found the masonry to be in such a perilous state of disrepair that the whole structure was in imminent danger of collapse. The work of restoration was therefore begun at once, and the funds placed at their disposal by Mr. Mackay were utilized in building up the ancient structure in such a manner that it would at least remain standing.

As a result, the outside of the chapel today represents a very different scene. A neat picket fence encloses the plot of land on which it is built, and which, together with the edifice itself, was ceded to the Provincial Historic Sites and Monuments Commission by the heirs of the Cuthbert estate; the windows have regained their former shape and are boarded up, while the old door, which was discovered in a nearby ditch, once more swings on its hinges; the hand-split-shingle roof has been repaired, and the walls are as solid as they ever were, while the trees which were undermining them have been removed.

Efforts have been made to find the bell which once pealed from the little belfrey, and the tablet which graced the south wall, but so far they have been unsuccessful. However these are only two o fthe tasks which must be accomplished in order to bring the Cuthbert Chapel back into the form in which it existed when last used for worship. Fortunately several old photographs and drawings exist which show the appearance of the interior at this time, so that it may be faithfully reproduced. A floor must be laid over the hallowed ground where lie the remains of the Cuthberts and Antrobuses; a pulpit must be erected and a gallery put up, while the ceiling is badly in need of repairs, and the roof of re-shingling. Glass windows must be provided, the walls re-plastered, and all the appurtenances of a Presbyterian chapel installed. Outside, a road is to be built across the field, and planted with trees.

To this end a sum of a least $4,000 is needed, and an opportunity to help in this worthy undertaking is being given to all those interested. Subscriptions may be sent either to Mr. Mackay or to W. D. Lighthall, K.C.

Home-Made, but Ends Bad Cough In a Hurry

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Put this into a 16 oz. bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and soothes away the inflammation. At the same time it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in obstinate bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

I feel safe in saying Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines have helped me wonderfully."—Mrs. Wm. H. BEEMITELLER, Box 143, Port Colborne, Ont.

Chest Colds Need Direct Treatment

IT IS an obstinate cold indeed that can resist the direct double action of Vicks. Rubbed on the chest, it acts 2 ways at once:

(1) Direct to air passages with its healing vapors released by body heat;

(2) Direct, like a poultice, it "draws out" the soreness.

Federal Supreme Court Refuses to Grant Writ

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The Supreme Court of Canada today, in unanimous decision, refused the appeal for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of John F. Doherty, of New Brunswick. Doherty is now serving a six months' term for a breach of the New Brunswick Liquor Act. Chief Justice Anglin, in rendering the decision, declared the Supreme Court of Canada had no jurisdiction to grant a writ of habeas corpus where the conviction had been made under a provincial and not a Federal statute.

ASSAULT CASE OPENS ASSIZES

Stanley Park Coward on Trial Here for Alleged Attack Upon Chinese at Sidney on Aug. 30

ACCUSER TELLS OF WOUNDS RECEIVED

The trial of Stanley Park Coward, charged with assaulting Lem Chow at Sidney on August 30, 1928, and thereby occasioning him actual bodily harm, opened yesterday afternoon at the Fall Criminal Assizes before Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald and a jury. Ten witnesses, five called by the Crown and five by the defence, were examined, and the case was adjourned until 10:30 o'clock this morning, when the accused will take the stand in his own defence. Mr. William Moresby, K.C., is Crown prosecutor, and Mr. W. H. Bullock-Webster is council for Coward.

Lem Chow, sixty-one years of age, who lives at a Chinese shop at Sidney, testified that on August 30 he bought some fruit, apples and plums put inside. Three white boys, at the door of the shop, and the plums put inside. Three write boys, including the accused Coward, he said, came to the store and helped themselves to the apples. Coward went to the box containing plums, and took several handfuls of the fruit and placed the plums in his pocket. Witness said he grabbed Coward's hand, saying, "You've got enough."

"The accused then threw me to the ground and beat me up. He put me on some stones and struck me with his fist while I was lying there. He then picked something hard from the ground, and hit me on the head with it. I was wounded in the left chest, and the top of my head was cut. I was bleeding profusely. When I got up, I picked up a stone, but Coward's elder brother took it away from me. I went and called a policeman and later saw a doctor. It was three weeks before I was better. There were ten Chinese and four or five white men who could see the assault," Lem Chow told the court.

WOULD START ROW

Asked why he hadn't called on some of the Chinese who saw the assault to help him, Lem Chow replied he was afraid that if he had done so there would have been a fight between the Chinese and white men who were looking on.

Lem Chow's story of the alleged attack upon him was corroborated by two other Chinese, Wong Sam and Yui Jong, both of Sidney. Wong Sam stated that Coward threw Lem Chow on the ground, and banged his head on the stones. He identified the stones which were produced in court as those which had come in contact with Lem Chow's head.

Dr. H. G. Burden, of Sidney, told of examining Lem Chow on August 30. Lem Chow's face and clothing were stained with blood from the nose and wounds in the head. On closer examination he found the Chinese had bruises on the nose, the scalp and forehead, small cuts on the scalp which were bleeding, an injury to the eye, and minor bruises on the shins. The greatest injury seemed to be to the nose, which was black and blue over the bridge.

Constable William Henry Hadley, of the British Columbia Provincial Police, stationed at Sidney, said he noticed blood running freely from two small holes in Lem Chow's head when he saw him on August 30. The Chinese had small cuts on the face, and was complaining of injuries to his head, witness stated.

"CHINESE KICKS ACCUSED"

The first witness for the defence was Richard Coward, an elder brother of the accused. He said that the accused and himself lived with their parents at Sidney. On August 30, witness saw his brother pick up an apple at Lem Chow's premises. Lem Chow, who was sitting down beside the apples, got up and kicked the accused in the right leg, he stated.

"Stanley walked away, and then Lem Chow picked up a rock and threw it at Stanley, the rock hitting him on his right arm. Stanley came back, and the Chinese and he clinched, and both went down on the ground," Richard Coward declared.

Witness said Lem Chow and the accused went down on the ground three times, and he stopped the Chinese from throwing another rock at the accused. He said he noticed blood on both Lem Chow and the accused. There were a number of Chinese and white men standing around watching the fracas. He said he never heard Lem Chow call for aid.

Herbert Bosher, William Jackson and Patrick Clanton, who all live at Sidney, corroborated Richard Coward's evidence in respect to the testimony that Lem Chow kicked the accused, and hit him with a rock.

FALL DOWN TWICE

Thomas McIntosh, a millworker at the Sidney sawmill, said the accused was employed at the mill. He was passing by the shop when the fight was in progress. He didn't see the start of the trouble, but saw the Chinese and the accused fall twice to the ground. Lem Chow was bleeding from the eye, he stated.

Mr. Bullock-Webster, defence counsel, intimated that Stanley Coward, the accused, would testify in his own behalf when the trial was resumed this morning.

GOVERNMENT AID SOUGHT

COUNCIL ASKED TO OBTAIN PROVINCIAL SUPPORT FOR STORAGE PLANT

Dominion Subsidy Is Also Asked—Mr. C. H. Topp Appointed Clerk of Works

The City Council is asked in a letter from the mayor with respect to the Victoria Cold Storage & Terminal Warehouse, Ltd., to not only assist that company in securing a Dominion subsidy, which cold storage plants may have if they submit to the Government's schedule of rates, but also to secure, if possible, assistance from the Provincial Government in connection with the erection of the plant here.

The mayor pointed out that by the by-law, in which the citizens guaranteed 7 per cent net earnings of $500,000 for a period of ten years for the cold storage plant, the City Council also undertook to help get the Dominion subsidy for the company.

It was further pointed out that the Provincial Government was helping a similar project in New Westminster to the extent of $30,000 a year for ten years. The mayor felt that the Victoria cold storage plant was equally entitled to aid from the Provincial Government, and suggested that steps be taken to obtain the same assistance as the New Westminster plant, and the securing of such financial aid as would reduce the city's liability.

Mr. C. H. Topp, local engineer, was selected from a list of thirty-five applicants for the position of clerk of works for the city. He will make a weekly report to the council, through the city engineer, on the progress of the work on the cold storage plant.

JUDGMENT IN TRIAL STAYED

Judge Lampman Withholds Decision in Suit for Recovery of Alleged Loan

Judgment was reserved by His Honor Judge F. S. Lampman in the County Court yesterday in the action launched by Henry Arnold Morley, of Mill Bay, against William Oliphant, lumberman of this city, for recovery of $1,000, claimed by the plaintiff to have been loaned to the defendant on September 12, 1925. The defendant denied the existence of the loan, and contested the action. Mr. Fred C. Elliott was counsel for the plaintiff, while Mr. Ernest L. Tait represented the defendant.

His Honor dismissed in a written judgment the suit brought by R. V. Winch & Company, Limited, against Arthur S. Averill to recover $1,000 commission on an exchange of properties. The defendant was the owner of Rockland Court, on Rockland Avenue, and an exchange of it for a group of five houses in Oak Bay, called Patio Court, owned by a Mrs. Sanders, was almost accomplished, but fell through because the defendant refused to complete.

Judge Lampman commented upon the position of real estate brokers in acting for both parties to an exchange, and on the fact that, while commissions were sought from both parties, the commission asked from the defendant in this case was double the commission sought from the other party to the contemplated exchange.

"I CAN FEEL HUSKY EASE MY ACHING BACK"

"I've Never Experienced as Much Relief From a Medicine as Husky Is Giving Me Now," Says Hotel Man

JOHN GIBSON

"For years I've had lumbago and rheumatism, my back aching terribly at times," said John Gibson, who is connected with the Central Hotel at Tacoma, Wash., as he told how he had suffered and how wonderful Husky is relieving him.

"The rheumatic pains went down into my knee joints," he said. "I had trouble with my food digesting, didn't feel like eating and frequently had headaches. I was constipated.

"This medicine, Husky, is doing wonders for me. I can just feel it ease my back and I'm more agile and limber than I've been in a long, long time. My bowels are regular and the headaches are gone. I'm regaining my appetite, too.

"I've taken many medicines during my long life, but I have never experienced as much relief in a short time as I have from Husky."

Husky relieves those ravaging acids, which irritate the mucous linings and rob your blood of the red corpuscles you must have plenty of to keep from getting weak and achy. Get Husky now; it is marvelous what it will do for you in a short time. MacFarlane Drug Co. and other good drug stores everywhere always have Husky. (Advt.)

Birthday Anniversary Of B.C. to Be Observed

Premier Tolmie Will Give Opening Address at Annual Ceremony on Monday—Scenes From Dickens—Mr. Archibald Flower Will Attend

Premier Tolmie will give the opening speech at the entertainment being arranged by the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the Empress Hotel ballroom next Monday evening, under the patronage of the Lieutenant - Governor and Miss Helen Mackenzie, who have signified their intention of being present.

In commemorating on November 19 the seventieth birthday of British Columbia, the Lady Douglas Chapter is perpetuating the memory of one of the most vital and important acts of the administration of Governor Douglas, in establishing the jurisdiction of the Crown over the Mainland, which at that date was a wild and unoccupied territory on the Northwest Coast of North America.

Owing to the influx of goldseekers and miners from the United States, which treatened the peace and fortune of the Mainland, Governor Douglas decided that no time should be lost in putting into effect the act which provided for the Government of British Columbia, and, accompanied by Chief Justice Cameron, of Vancouver's Island, and other dignitaries, he went to Fort Langley, and on November 19, 1858, was formally inducted into his new office as Governor of British Columbia, and a new colony was established, as had been done eight years earlier on Vancouver's Island, and Governor Douglas continued to discharge the dual duties of the two colonies until his retirement in 1863.

These events add a lustre to the fame of the most distinguished historic personage whom the Lady Douglas Chapter thus delights to honor.

The programme for the commemoration is as follows:

8:15—Opening address, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia.

Man From Shanghai Living in Bush Has Wooden Safe Stolen

ABBOTSFORD, B.C., Nov. 13.—The residence of Francis Fitzpatrick, Dennison Road, Dennis, Matsqui, was entered Sunday morning and $900 and personal affects valued at several hundred dollars stolen.

Fitzpatrick arrived from Shanghai about a month ago. He carried with him a hardwood box containing a considerable quantity of English money in gold and bank notes, some American and Chinese money and many personal valuables.

His house is in a lonely district in the bush at Dennis, and he took his box of valuables there with him. So far the box has not been found.

An irate cricket spectator who had watched his home team defeated stopped one of the umpires as he was leaving the field. "Where's your dog?" he asked.

"Dog?" ejaculated the umpire. "Haven't got a dog."

"Well," said the disgusted one, "you're the first blind man I ever saw who didn't have a dog."

"You do so remind me of a telescope, Mr. Simms."

"My appearance, do you mean"

AMERICAN NAVAL EXPANSION

The attitude of the United States on naval defence has been outlined by President Coolidge in an Armistice Day message. The construction of more cruisers for naval purposes is needed he says, the need arising "in view of its (the United States) geographical characteristics, treaty engagments and economic importance, and in view of its lack of fuelling stations." Because of its lack of the latter Mr. Coolidge says his country wants more warships than a nation having these advantages. The increases to the American Navy will be approved at the session of Congress which opens next month, and it is to pave the way for what is proposed that Mr. Coolidge has spoken. The Navy Department of that country has already prepared the programme which will probably be under way before Mr. Herbert Hoover assumes office.

The argument advanced by Mr. Coolidge to the effect that more cruisers are needed because of America's lack of world coaling stations is not very convincing. The more cruisers any nation possesses the more fuelling facilities are required. Cruisers are the patrol ships of a nation, the ships which show the flag, and the more there are of them the more fuelling facilities will be in demand. In this respect the argument advanced by the United States President is not logical. With the statement that because of the economic importance of the United States a bigger navy is desirable there can be no quarrel; that is self-evident. A case can also be built up for naval expansion because of treaty engagements. There is also a case that might be advanced for greater defensive measures because of lack of treaty engagements, and Mr. Coolidge could as well have told the world that the fact that the United States stands outside the League of Nations constitutes an argument in favor for doing all that lies in her power to protect herself in the event of war developing through any combination of nations within the League.

The result of the recent election in the United States has been construed as an argument in favor of naval expansion. The country is bound by the Washington Treaty for a limitation of naval armaments but this only relates to the ratio of capital ships and, incidentally, to the personnel that may be maintained. The question of cruiser construction is an open one to be decided by each nation according to what it considers its needs to be. At a recent conference on naval limitations held at Geneva efforts were made to bring about further reductions in sea strength among the Great Powers, but a deadlock was reached on the question of cruiser construction. Now President Coolidge has definitely declared for more cruisers, which means his influence is being used to implement the proposals already prepared by the Navy Department of the United States.

THE CONSERVATIVE CAMPAIGN

Mr. D. B. Plunkett, the Conservative candidate for the Federal by-election in this constituency on December 6 has opened his campaign this week with a series of addresses to employees of different industrial plants of the community. Mr. Plunkett can speak as man to man in labor circles and advance arguments dealing with the necessity of creating employment that should contain a special appeal. He is on intimate ground in his appeal to the Labor vote because he knows industrial conditions, has experienced them at first hand and has made a close study of their related problems.

The by-election campaign has now been launched and it will reach its culmination with the presence here of Mr. R. B. Bennett, the Conservative leader, who is to address a meeting on Mr. Plunkett's behalf on December 4. Mr. Bennett has been a frequent visitor to this city but the coming occasion will be the first political speech he has made here since his accession to the leadership of the Conservative Party. It is a tribute to the importance of Victoria that he should make the long trip here to take part in the by-election. He can look forward with every confidence to having a crowded audience to hear him expound the Conservative policies, and we do not doubt that he will put forward a powerful plea in urging Victoria to remain true to the political faith of British Columbia.

TRADE TREATY NEEDS REVISION

British Columbia's lumber exports to Australia last year were only $2,500,000, whereas lumber sold to the Commonwealth by the United States reached a value of $13,500,000. In this respect the Canadian-Australian Trade Treaty has not worked satisfactorily because there has not been a preferential tariff on the lumber exports of this province. On the other hand Australia is complaining that the treaty is too lop-sided, in other words, that Canada is obtaining the best of the bargain. The contrary of course is the case as relative figures show. Australia has nearly tripled the value of her trade to this Dominion under the treaty, whereas Canada's trade has declined. This, however, does not constitute an argument why there should be no reciprocal trade advantage given to Australia in the event of that country giving Canada a preferential tariff on lumber. There must be some quid pro quo. It is a matter that ought to have been thought of when the trade treaty was being negotiated.

The present treaty is not working as it should or else there would not be complaints from both countries. For the moment the point on which most stress should be laid is the desirability of inducing Australia to give the British Columbia lumbermen the preferential duty which will enable them to compete satisfactorily with the American lumber interests. This province and not American States of the Pacific seaboard should be the chief source of supply of Australia's lumber needs.

POLICE DUTIES

Police administration and police methods to be efficient must divorce from their conduct all vindictiveness, all cocksuredness, and carry on executive functions with judicial detachment of mind. The trouble too often is that both before and after making an arrest zeal outruns discretion and fair dealing in the working up of a case. The police are sometimes by far too certain in their own minds that when they lay hands on a person he or she is guilty. That is not their duty at all. It is a conception repulsive to the British law which supposes everyone charged with an offence is innocent until proved guilty.

This question of the attitude of the police has come to the surface somewhat forcibly in Brtain in recent months and some very strong advice has been given to the force. It is now suggested that the police should be deprived of what they call "working up a case," and deprived, too, of the power to take statements from one whom they have arrested or propose to arrest. This business of taking statements is the work of lawyers. The only business of the police in the matter is to detain where there is solid ground for suspicion, but never to take a statement which can subsequently be used as evidence. This is sound advice because the police can become a menace to society when they show any signs of vindictiveness in carrying out their lawful duties. In this respect, as well as in all their actions, they should be above the sin of small-mindedness.

The Providence (Rhode Island)) Journal says: "No public-spirited American wants the Federal Government to lose control of its incalculably great natural water-power resources. They must remain forever the property of the Government in every case where they are not now owned by it; but they must be developed by private initiative, private resources, private management, which, through generations of experience, have proved themselves to be agencies infinitely superior to Government initiative and Government management." If this American newspaper will apply its argument about Government control to the water powers of the St. Lawrence it will readily see that Canada should not be disposed to share that control with the United States.

In 1908 the value of newsprint produced in Canada was $38,000,000, a figure which had grown to $125,000,000 in 1927. It is now claimed that because of the anxiety to get this newsprint on the American market the product is actually being sold at less than cost. In other words, Canada is selling this resource of her's at less than cost and buys American goods produced at a profit. The comment of The Toronto Telegram on this is that "there is every evidence that Canadian pulp forests are being devastated to make a Roman holiday for American newspapers and exploiters."

QUIET THINGS

Because she laughed, and played with life, they said
That she was of the noisy garish throng,
Whose idle feet were only made to tread
The crowded ways, and dance the whole night long!

They did not know that she would steal away
Heart-sick of all the noise that she had known,
And out upon the hilltops, make her way,
And walk beside the river, all alone,

Nor that she loved to sit and watch the breeze
Ruffling the tall, rank grass where no one came,
And held her breath beneath the latticed trees,
To watch the Western ramparts flash and flame.

They did not know that when she danced and played,
She dwelt within herself all secretly!—
Her feet were still beside the river's shade—
Her heart was beating close beside the sea!

—P. Mann, in The Australasian.

ALIEN BLOOD

One very grave fact has been made clear by the experiment of sending British harvesters to Canada. It was clear enough to those who know something of Canada, but recent events should make it plain to all British people. This is the distinct feeling of animosity shown to the newcomers by foreign settlers, especially to those from Central Europe. These men know nothing and care nothing about British traditions and aspirations. They care not a straw for the British Empire . . . These facts indicate the danger of allowing that great Dominion to be populated by alien races, who may never be assimilated, and who, if they become sufficiently numerous, might turn aside the whole trend of Canadian development and settle forever the question of whether Canada shall remain British.—Edinburgh Evening Dispatch.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

The tenth anniversary of the Great Armistice is past and has been commemorated in the usual way — with special services and special speeches and special articles and special poems in the newspapers. Sir Philip Gibbs, who was a special correspondent of the press during the Great War, and made such a good job of it that he was honored with a knighthood, has been writing continuously ever since about the Great Peace, whose terms he never seemed to consider very creditable to anybody. In fact, Sir Philip declared that the Great Peace was an even greater blunder than the Great War, because instead of containing an assurance of permanent peace it provided an assurance of another war sooner or later. Thus, according to the view of the great war correspondent, the Great War had been fought and won in vain, because almost everybody who fought in it believed the Great War was fought in order to end all wars, while at the end of the conflict the nations were more distrustful of one another than they were before the first gun was fired.

* * *

We have read many of Sir Philip's articles and speeches, and every time we read one of them we thought of Mrs. Gummidge and the uncomfortable feeling she created in every company in which she appeared. But Sir Philip has written another article which is almost as optimistic as the sayings of Mark Tapley. On the day of the tenth anniversary of the Great Armistice Sir Philip wrote an article declaring that the situation throughout the world had become more hopeful.

* * *

The Great War has possibly not accomplished all that it was expected to accomplish, but there is now no reason to despair about its accomplishments. The terms of peace are still discreditable to all who played a part in fixing them. They are not such terms of peace, possibly, as would have been fixed by a Great Correspondent of liberal, even generous, views, instead of by minor statesmen of narrow views and grasping disposition, but, now that ten years have passed by and the nerves of the people of the nations, which were in an abnormal state of tension as a consequence of the strain of ten years of fighting, have reverted to normal, the Great War may after all not have been fought and won in vain. There is a possibility that the war which was fought to end all wars actually may have the result of ending all Great Wars.

* * *

On Armistice Day, after reading what Sir Philip Gibbs and some less illustrious persons had to say about the Great War and the principles for which it was fought, we sat down by the fire (which is very comfortable and soothing at this season of the year, although the weather is not very cold), lit a pipe (which is not without solace under the most depressing circumstances), and "turned on" the radio. A bright fire, a pipe which is drawing well, and the radio, what better company would anyone desire on the evening of Armistice Day, or on the evening of any other day for that matter, if, as sometimes happens, one is somewhat weary of reading the best of books and good newspapers?

* * *

We know that some excellent people still sneer at the radio and the "stuff" which it broadcasts. On the other hand, if the atmospheric conditions are favorable, it is not all mere "stuff" that comes over the radio. For the radio, like almost all other human institutions, has undergone great changes and wonderful improvements within the last ten years or less. Even within the last two years the radio has undergone processes of refinement that have eliminated all, or nearly all, the faults that were characteristic of its infancy. It is no longer a source of constant irritation. It is today a source of almost continuous pleasure. If the programmes were always as satisfactory as the "reception," there would be little reason even for the most refined and sensitive of musicians to find fault with the radio. One qualified authority even has declared that there are two modern institutions which will play prominent parts in promoting the permanent peace of the whole world. The radio is one of them.

* * *

One of the things we learned on the evening of Armistice Day when we lit our pipe and turned on the radio was that our neighbors across the border also were celebrating the day in a manner entirely in harmony with the spirit of the occasion. Their orators were speaking, and doubtlessly millions of people were listening to what they had to say. We did not listen to the speeches for a moment. Their bands were playing, and we listened to them. One of the bands played the anthems of all nations. We listened to them playing the National Anthems, and as we listened we thought how characteristic the music was of the temperaments of the people of the nations. The National Anthem of Russia has not been changed and reduced to harmony with the change in the Russian political situation. The music is grand and sweet, but melancholy and depressing. The tempo of the Italian hymn is swift and gay; that of France martial and inspiring. The music of "The Star-Spangled Banner" compels us to join in the song whenever we hear it sung. There are critics who say they do not think highly of either the words or the music of the British National Anthem; but there is something in that simple but grand and sonorous invocation when sung by a great multitude or played by a full band, with the basses coming in like a roll of distant thunder, that arouses emotions in the heart that cannot be expressed in words.

MILITARY GUARDS OF HONOR

Sir,—In your paper, The Victoria Colonist, of Saturday, November 10, you, in a leaderette, state that Premier King was out of place in inspecting a guard of honor which had been drawn up in his honor, on returning from Europe. Then you quote a number of British statesmen whom your Montreal correspondent alleges never received a military guard of honor. Such statement is incorrect. On the visit of Premier Baldwin to Calgary, a guard of honor was accorded him, comprised of the P.P.C.L.I., which regiment was at that time in training at Sarcee Camp, Calgary. As the Premier left the C.P.R. depot by way of Ninth Avenue, the guard which was drawn up on said avenue came to attention, presented arms and displayed the regimental colors. The Premier then inspected the guard, speaking to a number of the decorated men while so doing.

I am not defending the right or the wrong of such a proceeding, but only to state what really happened on the occasion mentioned.

WILLIAM DAWES.

RIVERS OF THE PUNJAB

Sir,—They say a rose by any other name would smell as sweet and so I don't suppose it really matters to most people what names you give the five rivers of the Punjab in your article on "Irrigation in India," in The Colonist of November 9. The five are Sutlej, Jhelam (probably the Telam of your article), Ravi, Beas and Chenab. The Mekong is in Burma, the Tapti in the Bombay Presidency and the Cauvery in the Madras Presidency —nearly as far from the Punjab as one can get in India. Also seeing that the area is, as you show, more than the present cultivated area of Egypt, it is rather damning the scheme with faint praise to call it turning Siud into a very fair imitation of Egypt.

There must be, if my memory serves me right, at least a dozen other canals of this size in India, i.e., as big as the Chicago so-called drainage canal.

Three or four years ago I glanced into a new geography book, just then issued for use in our Public Schools, and learned to my amazement that Manchester (England) is on the Mersey and Cardiff (Wales) on the Severn.

W. B. GREIG.
Parksville, B. C., November 10, 1928.

GOAT BREEDING

Sir,—On returning to the city I find that my letter to you regarding copying matter about goats from English papers, which is unsuitable to British Columbia conditions, has given rise to quite a number of letters in your correspondence columns. As some of the statements made by Mr. Ellison are very misleading, and have not been answered by Mr. Burton, I would appreciate the courtesy of space for a reply, which I will make as brief as possible.

In your issue of November 3, Mr. Ellison starts off by saying: "I conclude that Mr. G. Pilmer's letter on the above subject is issued with the sanction of the Agricultural Department of the Government," and goes on to speak of the goat industry having fallen into the hands of a paternal Government."

What reason has Mr. Ellison for saying this? He knows, or, as a man of intelligence and education, ought to know, that the policy and business of the B.C. Goat Breeders' Association, which has generally a membership of over four hundred, is decided on and carried into effect by the members and their directors, without any dictation or interference of any Government department.

The subsequent paragraphs of Mr. Ellison's letters are equally misleading and entirely at variance with facts, but it would require too much space to answer them all in detail, and, as far as Mr. Ellison is concerned, it is questionable if it is worth while. If he really wants to know something about the goat business, it would pay him to attend the monthly meetings of the Victoria branch of the association.

I cannot understand why Mr. Ellison is kicking. He has been breeding, raising and selling cheap goats for many years and has also been keeping a buck for public service at lower than the usual fee. If others are charging too high prices he should be getting all the business, and by this time should have made a fortune. (By the way, the pure-bred buck he has was brought into the country with the assistance of the association, which paid the express charges.)

All this talk about the Government protecting a clique is beside the the mark. Membership in the association is open to anyone for a dollar a year, and if a member does not get value for his dollar, that is his own fault.

For the information of Mr. Ellison and others, I may say that the association has spent hundreds of dollars in importing good goats to improve our British Columbia stock, and any unbiased observer will have to admit that we have improved the old stock immensely. It has spent hundreds of dollars in advertising in the press and in publishing pamphlets to popularize the milk goat and its products, and to find a market for them; it has spent hundreds of dollars in paying the express charges on purebred bucks so that buyers can get them easily; it has spent hundreds of dollars in paying subsidies on purebred bucks in outlying districts of the province, so that good bucks would be made available to improve the stock in those places; and it has spent many more hundreds of dollars in various ways to help the goat industry, and to overcome the handicap under which it labors from the harm done by Mr. Ellison, and others of his way of thinking.

As regard shows, the goatbreeders have gone farther than any others breeders of livestock, because they insist that their stock give a good quantity of milk before it can qualify for a prize, no matter how good-looking or blueblooded it may be. We insist on milk in our milk goats, and our slogan, first, last, and all the time, is "utility." If Mr. Ellison wants to compete, it will only cost him twenty-five cents to enter any of his products at the fair.

GERGE PILMER.
Secretary, B.C. Goat Breeders' Association, Victoria, B.C., November 12, 1928.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH LEAGUE

Sir,—Much has been written in your paper regarding diet—for and against.

The Health and Strength League has just celebrated its twenty-first birthday with seventy thousand members and to date not one death has been recorded from cancer, even though cancer has increased enormously—to such an extent that according to Dr. McCoy in The Colonist of November 8, it stands at 87.7. Imagine if you can the enormity. Why the wonderful success of the league members? Because they follow the rules laid down which are: right thinking, breathing, exercise and eating. Diet alone is invariably a failure, but in conjunction with the other methods advised has surely proven its worth as our records show. Many people have declared that they have never dieted and never would, or exercised, etc. Be that as it may it is certainly not hard to pick out those who follow the above rules of health.

I have known thousands who would not do these things but once they have the opportunity, especially to eat genuine whole wheat bread, etc., they never seem to want the old foods.

Many papers criticized the Health and Strength League for the ideas advanced as cranks, etc. The sunlight cure has been sponsored by the Health and Strength League for many years. What do we find today? Everyone is advocating sunlight treatment. All we ask is for people to give the above methods a fair trial.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE

Sir,—There are few experiences in life which make more lasting impressions than the one which found me among comparative strangers about four years ago, and undertaking a task with which I was not familiar. The office which was the regular meeting place of this organization, was very modestly furnished with an old-fashioned desk and chairs, and would accommodate about thirty people. The chairs were all occupied by people of different creeds and vocations in life. There were Catholics and Protestants, Jews and Gentiles, Conformists and Nonconformists, artizans of different types, and, as I sat in one of the back seats, I wondered what could result from such an assemblage. Had it not been for the smiling face of the president, beaming over the top of the high wooden desk, I should have beaten a retreat, never again to occupy even a back seat.

However, as I listened to the discussion of special cases and heard the story of these broken lives and the relation of our judiciary, our schools, our churches and Governments to these particular individuals, I realized that I was associating with people who had a big job and were doing immigrant problems, social problems and domestic problems, and perhaps more than anything else, child welfare problems, came in for the greatest consideration. I naturally felt that I wanted to have a part in it all.

The greatest conundrum of it all is the submerging of the things that have divided society with one object to serve humanity.

In our Social Service League we enjoy a fellowship that in itself is an inspiration; and why not? The work of the league is simply to strengthen the weak places of an overtaxed society which has been brought to the breaking point and has left a human wreckage that only a trained and sympathetic soul can salvage. This is our work and we cannot shirk the responsibility. Let the Social Service League be our agent to do our bit in this great work. Call up the general secretary at No. 2440, and discover what is needed.

The rule in New York broadcasting studios that the announcers must wear dinner jackets (called in America Tuxedo coats) illustrates the change which in recent years has come over the American attitude towards evening dress. At the beginning of the century no one in the United States, outside a very small circle of rich people who tried to be very English, thought of dressing for dinner, either at home or in friends' houses, or in hotels. Now the pendulum has swung far in the opposite direction, as this radio company's regulation shows. Americans a even more particular than we a about "changing." They never s anywhere without their "evenir suit."—English Paper.

INDUSTRIAL PROTECTION IS EMPHASIZED

Mr. D. B. Plunkett, Conservative Nominee, Begins Series of Addresses to Employees in City Plants

TARIFF URGED AS REQUISITE

The necessity of keeping the manufacture of the raw materials of the Dominion within the bounds of Canada so that the residents of their own country might have the fullest possible benefits from this manufacture was pressed home upon the gathering of the employees of the British America Paint Company, which assembled through the courtesy of the management of the works yesterday at noon to hear Mr. D. B. Plunkett, the Conservative candidate in the forthcoming by-election for the House of Commons.

The candidate made it clear in the forcible style of oratory that he possesses that he favored, if necessary, a high export duty on the natural resources of the country that it might be sought to carry out of the country in the raw condition to enrich a foreign country in the course of its manufacture. Mr. Plunkett advocated the checking of this export and thus compel the bringing of the necessary capital into Canada for the purpose of producing the finished product here. This, said the speaker, was the only way in which the country could hold its own against a strong rival such as existed alongside of this Dominion in the United States.

EFFECT ON PAINT

Taking the case of the paint industry which came home very closely to the audience that he was addressing, he pointed to what protection meant to that line of enterprise. It meant the adding of prosperity to the locality where the works were established and with that came happiness to the community, with the addition of other allied industries in many instances.

Mr. Plunkett pointed out that this matter of protection was a practical matter. It came to the homes of the working people, and he appealed as a working man to other working men to see that the best was done for the community.

This was exemplified, he said, in the case of the United States, where the working classes had attained a higher standard than in most countries. The higher cost of living that attended this was more than compensated for by the higher wages received by them.

The necessity for the heartiest co-operation between the capitalist and the working classes was urged by the speaker. The employer and the employee should work together with the heartiest good will.

The greater part of the address of the candidate was devoted to the subject of ample protection for the keeping of the resources of the country in Canada until they were as fully manufactured as it was possible to have them and thus keep the expenditure of the money in this country together with the retaining of the population of the country in the land of their birth rather than following the material products of the country to a foreign land to assist in their manufacture there.

REASON FOR APPEAL

He said that the aspect of the situation from the standpoint of the workingman appealed to him as he had always belonged to that class. He had, therefore, upon the start of his campaign, made an appeal to the workingmen of the community.

He thanked the audience for the patient hearing which was accorded him during his fifteen minutes' address.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Leonard Tait. There was a splendid attendance and a most attentive hearing was accorded the candidate.

Mr. Plunkett will address the employees of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Mill at 12:30 o'clock today.

INSURANCE DATA SOUGHT BY CITY

Alderman E. S. Woodward Says Underwriters Are Side-Stepping Issue

Alderman E. S. Woodward, in asking the council to obtain information from the city comptroller relative to fire insurance rates in this city, expressed the opinion that the report filed by the Fire Underwriters' Association was beside the point taken up by the city, namely that a reduction in the rate should be given due to the exceptionally low fire loss in Victoria.

The following resolution submitted by Alderman Woodward was unanimously indorsed by the council:

"Whereas, Mr. John Noble, manager of the British Columbia Underwriters' Association, has publicly stated that there would be no reduction granted in insurance rates to the City of Victoria unless enormous capital expenditure and enlargement of the personnel of the fire department are entered upon;

"Whereas, it is desirable that the fullest information in relation to the fire insurance situation shall be given to the City Council and the citizens of Victoria;

"Resolved, that the city comptroller be instructed to prepare for the information of the council, the following data under suitable schedules for the past twenty years, or as far back as may be found possible from existing records:

"(a) Statement of insurable properties held by the City Council and Board of School Trustees within and without the city limits.

"(b) Insurance carried thereon;

"(c) Amount of premiums paid for each year;

"(d) Fire losses sustained and amounts paid in each year together with any other information that may be helpful in determining whether legislative relief shall be applied for.

DR. BOREHAM SPEAKS HERE

Well-Known Lecturer Gives Addresses at Metropolitan Church

Rev. Dr. F. W. Boreham, of Melbourne, Australia, spoke last evening at a meeting at the Metropolitan Church, which was held under the auspices of the Ministerial Association. Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell presided over the meeting, conducting the preliminary thanksgiving, and introducing the speaker. There was a large congregation, which hung on the words of Dr. Boreham.

The proceedings began with a hymn which, as Dr. Sipprell explained, was symbolical of the kinship for which it stood. The congregation then joined in the refrain, "Fellowship of Kindred Minds Are Like to That Above." Dr. Sipprell then introduced the speaker, Doctor F. W. Boreham, whose subject was "Crumbling Stones."

"When I arrived in England, sometime in the middle of last April," said Dr. Boreham," and when I saw the schedule that was before me, I found that I should have to preside over some 230 lectures and sermons, and I must confess that my heart sank, in consequence. At that time I solemnly pledged myself that, should I fulfill this contract, I would offer public thanks. I am making my tour, at the same time bringing a ministry of encouragement to all branches of the church."

Five years ago, went on the speaker, Dr. F. B. Myers came to Australia from Victoria. This remark was received with great applause by the congregation, who appreciated to the full every subtlety which emanated from the platform.

Dr. Boreham's lecture was very well received, and there is every reason to hope that he will repeat his address in Victoria at some future date.

The speaker, who will leave today for Australia, also spoke at an afternoon meeting.

BUFFALO GIVEN TO CITY'S ZOO

Junior Chamber's Offer to City Is Accepted—Want Collection of Canadian Animals

In accepting the offer of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to secure two buffalo for Beacon Hill Park, the City Council last night went a step further in establishing a modest zoo.

The junior chamber notified the council that it had been able to secure free from the Buffalo Park at Wainwright, Alberta, two two-year-old buffalo for Beacon Hill Park. It had also secured from the Canadian National Railway free transportation of the animals to Victoria and also a grant of $250 from President E. W. Beatty, K.C., of the C.P.R., toward the cost of erecting a stable and fencing in which to house and confine the buffalo.

At the park there are at present Ursus Kermodie, the only white bear in captivity, a mountain goat, Mexican boar, deer, a very fine aviary, and several peacocks.

It is the ambition of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to develop a Zoo at the Beacon Hill Park of Canadian animals, so that there will be another tourist attraction added to the city's park.

They sat at the table, he and she, and gazed into each other's eyes, whilst he mechanically consumed the food which was set before him.

"Ah," she said, "I am glad you like it. Mother says that there are only two things I can make properly—potato salad and marmalade tart."

"Indeed," he replied, "and which is this?"

TWO CHARGES ARE DROPPED

COURT RULES OUT EARLY CLOSING BY-LAW—DOES NOT LEGALLY HOLD

City Solicitor to Draft New Measure—Mr. Harrison Urges Consolidation of By-Laws

Charges against James Little and Allen Pynn of not keeping their shops closed continuously from 6 p.m. on November 2 to 5 a.m. on November 3, were withdrawn in the city police court yesterday by Mr. Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor.

Mr. Harrison admitted to the court he had found, after investigation, that the by-law under which the prosecutions were laid did not legally hold. He had conferred with Mr. H. S. Pringle, the city solicitor, on the matter, and Mr. Pringle had said that the by-law was "bad."

In withdrawing the charges, Mr. Harrison urged a general consolidation of the by-laws of the city. He pointed out that the last consolidation had been made twenty-six years ago, and that several of the regulations had been repealed and amended since that time.

Magistrate George Jay, also commenting on the matter, declared a general consolidation was necessary.

The Shops Early Closing By-Law of 1919 was attacked in court last week by Mr. Stuart Henderson, counsel for James Little, on the ground that the proper procedure of enforcement had not been followed by the 1919 council in its enactment. Mr. Henderson claimed that the by-law was ultra vires for this reason.

City Solicitor Pringle said yesterday there was a weakness in the by-law. A procedure was not adopted which should have been taken in the enactment of the regulation, he said. This was in the Spring of 1919, before he had taken office. He said he would immediately start upon the construction of a new by-law to replace the 1919 measure.

MY NEEDS

What are my needs? These only:
Enough of song and sun,
New scenes when I grow lonely
And rest when work is done;
The strength for each day's task
Of honest useful labor . . .
What more could mortal ask?

My needs . . . I reckon over
The list I thought complete,
And there one lack discover,
Surpassing all things sweet.
My needs? But futile pleasures
Would all the others prove
Without this crown of treasures,
For every hour: love!

Memorial Tablet Will Mark Northeast Bastion

Bride of Long Ago, Who Married in Fort Victoria, to Unveil Plaque—Historical Ceremony Set This Afternoon

The unveiling of the memorial tablet on the Miller Court Building, Government and Bastion Streets, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon will give an opportunity to those who remember the Fort, and descendants of colonial pioneers to meet. The building occupies the site of the north-east bastion.

The ceremony is under the auspices of the British Columbia Historical Association, and under the patronage of Lieutenant-Governor Bruce.

Premier Tolmie, as a native son, and a member of a famous pioneer family, has been invited to open the meeting, which will be conducted from a truck drawn on the sidewalk near the scene.

Mrs. Edward M. Mohun, who was a bride at the Fort and is one of the few living persons who were married in the Fort enclosure, will draw aside the curtain, disclosing a bronze plaque suitably inscribed, which has been presented by the financial firm upon whose property it is affixed.

Mayor Pendray, Reeves Crouch, Hayward and Elrick, the members resident here of the families of the Douglases, Cridges, Rosses and Finlaysons, and Hudson's Bay Company employees of former years, have been invited. Mr. A. J. Watson, manager, and Mr. E. H. Wilson, manager of the lands department, will represent the present management of the Hudson's Bay Company. The company has loaned the Hudson's Bay Company flag for the occasion.

Mr. J. R. Anderson, who attended school in the Fort, has also been invited, and officers of the association promoting the commemoration.

The placing of the earlier tablet, now removed to the archives, will be recalled by persons who took part in the ceremony many years ago.

The custody of the tablet will be handed over to Mr. S. W. Miller, president of Miller, Court & Company, who will come from Vancouver to attend the function.

Traffic will be suspended on that part of Government Street during the short ceremony.

AIRPORT VALUE IS EMPHASIZED

MR. S. PICKLES SPEAKS TO KNIGHTS OF ROUND TABLE ON SUBJECT

Advantages Explained and Effect on Building Up of Community Is Stressed

At the weekly dinner of the Loyal Knights of Ye Round Table, held at the Empress Hotel last evening, those present were addressed by Mr. Sidney Pickles on "Aviation."

Taking as his text the statement that "Transportation is the medium along which civilization advances," Mr. Pickles made out a very strong case for the development of a first-class airport in Victoria, stating that this action would regain for Victoria her position as the most important Pacific port of Canada, a position which she lost to Vancouver at the completion of the transcanada railway.

The establishment of a transcanada air mail service, the first step of which has been taken by the air mail service between Montreal and Toronto, would soon be followed, the speaker asserted, by commercial planes carrying passengers and freight, operated in sections or divisions. This would require divisional terminal airports, and if Victoria wished to take her place as the Western terminal airport of Canada, an adequate site for airport development should be secured and partial conditioning of it should be started immediately.

VALUE OF AIRPORT

He pointed out that such an airport would have hangars, repair shops, spare engines, spare planes, and in the case of a terminal, special postoffice equipment, and would be the place of residence for pilots, mechanics, radio operators, customs and immigration offices, aircraft supply jobbers and others, all of whom, with their families, would mean quite an addition in Victoria's population.

Special taxi, bus or street car equipment would also be required to transport passengers, mail and freight to the heart of the city. All this must add to a city's volume of trade, its salary roll, and increase the business of the city.

He instanced the fact that the Vancouver Council had voted $7,000 to be expended in putting their airport in condition, and said he felt that Victoria and the surrounding municipalities should be prepared to expend similar moneys.

MUNICIPAL DOCK

He also strongly urged the immediate establishment of a municipal dock for seaplane traffic, expecially since the local aviation company had announced its intention of using passenger-carrying seaplanes.

His lecture was made extremely interesting by the exhibition of lantern slides, kindly loaned by Mr. Norman Yarrow, illustrating the development of lighter-than-air machines, from the earliest balloons to the famous R. 33, the first dirigible airship to cross the Atlantic, also aeroplanes from the earliest models to the giant Handley-Page passenger ships now plying between Croydon and Paris. Some very interesting air photographs, taken across Canada, and loaned by Mr. J. Howard A. Chapman, were also shown.

At the conclusion of his address, a vote of thanks, sponsored by Sir Knight J. C. Newmarch, was presented to Mr. Pickles by the chairman, Sir Knight F. E. Winslow.

VLADIVOSTOCK BEING REVIVED

Russian Port Commerce Consists Mainly of Export of Manchurian Produce

During the past few years, it is reported, the port of Vladivostock has been experiencing a steady revival, which has been due in the first place to the creation of a free zone and in the second to the establishment of a wheat exchange. The town is stated to be in a state of absolute decay, but trade continues to pass that way, largely because Vladivostock is so advantageously situated and so favored by nature. Most of the commerce handled there consists of the export of Manchurian produce, particularly soya beans, and whilst the town is neglected and falling into ruins, the harbor equipment is kept well up to date in order to deal with this traffic, the two affording a striking contrast.

The port and the railway services are said to be the only two which function with anything like regularity and dependability, and plans are even now under consideration for their improvement, for the transit trade is steadily increasing and more facilities will soon be needed. At the present time vessels drawing thirty-one feet of water can berth alongside the Egershold Quays, and whilst the depth is only twenty-four feet at other quays, deeper draught vessels are accommodated by interposing a pontoon between them and the quay wall, the bottom being shelving.

Competition with Dairy is naturally very keen, but Vladivostock has the advantage, rare in a Russian port nowadays, of being able to afford shippers excellent storage accommodation for their goods. It also scores in the matter of its oil-storage facilities, which are quite modern and extensive, while the arrangements for loading this commodity are equally good.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The Canadian men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. (Advt.)

FOUR BILLS GO TO GRAND JURY

INDICTMENT IN REX VS. STANLEY COWARD ASSAULT CASE FROM SIDNEY

Reports on Three Other Bills Likely to Be Brought in Today—Jurors Are Instructed

Four bills of indictment were presented to the grand jury yesterday by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald at the opening of the Fall Criminal Assizes at the Court House here. The bills were Rex vs. Stanley Park Coward, charged with assault; Rex vs. Lydia Catharine Rosman, charged with murder; Rex vs. Allison H. Taylor, charged with making false pretences to obtain the indorsement of a bank draft; and Rex vs. Freeman Frederick Fletcher, charged with attempted murder.

A true bill was returned in the case of Stanley Park Coward, who is accused of assaulting Lem Chow at Sidney on August 30, 1928, and occasioning him actual bodily harm. Commencement of the Coward trial took place yesterday afternoon.

It is anticipated that reports in the other three bills of indictment will be made to the court today.

NOT TRYING CASES

In instructing the grand jury, Mr. Justice Macdonald stated that they had the right and privilege of examining any buildings on which public money is spent, and to bring in a report or recommendation concerning the same.

Bills of indictment yet to be laid before the grand jury include Rex vs. Massa Singh, charged with assault; Rex. vs. H. A. Lund, charged with injuring goats, and Rex vs. Joseph Haig, charged with wilfully damaging an automobile.

Traversed from the Spring Assizes, Chew Leong Sing will stand trial for a second time on a charge of attempted murder in connection with the wounding of Wong Lim in a Douglas Street daylight pistol battle on February 5, 1928.

EXEMPTIONS GRANTED

The only woman on the grand jury, Mrs. Mary Anderson, was granted exemption yesterday by His Lordship from jury service on the grounds that she was over sixty years of age. Mr. Aaron Gonnason was granted exemption on similar grounds, reducing the jury to eleven and making it necessary for two more to be summoned.

Two jurors were selected to fill the vacancies and the grand jury was sworn in as follows: Messrs. Allan D. Ford (foreman), Albert H. Mitchell, George R. Mathews, G. D. McTavish, Robert R. Nelid, Albert Parfitt, H. Paterson, Cecil M. Roberts, John H. Schroeder, R. H. Shanks, Raymond B. Punnett, S. Partridge and H. T. Ravenhill.

Seven applications for exemption were made when the petit jury were called. Two men were excused on reporting they were seventy-seven years of age. One was excused on the ground that he was employed on railway work. The others, including a real estate man who said he would suffer heavy financial loss by his absence from business, were refused exemption.

"It is a duty you owe to your country," remarked His Lordship. "With the increased cost of living, the payment made to jurors has been raised to $4 per day, and although it is not a big amount for the important duties a juror is called upon to perform, it is recompense to a certain extent."

OIL SHALE PLANS WOULD AID B.C.

Mr. M. R. Kraul Explains Situation by Which Process of Extraction Would Be Feasible

Mr. M. R. Kraul, of Denver, Colo., who is in the city for the purpose of investigating the possibility of carrying on work in this part of the province in the direction of extracting oil from the coal shales, met the Minister of Mines yesterday, and explained his processes to him. Mr. Kraul is asking no assistance from the Government.

Last evening he addressed a gathering of mining men and others interested in the propostion in the Empress Hotel. By means of motion pictures he threw on the screen scenes for the purpose of explaining the working of the process, and also showing in parts of Colorado the immense shale deposits, and which he pointed out were able to provide a wonderful supply of oil and gasoline.

With the rapid increase in the number of automobiles in the United States, which would this year reach something like 27,000,000, it was necessary to find new sources for fuel.

The statements of Mr. Kraul were to the effect that in the extraction of the oil from the shale deposits the cheapest methods of obtaining gasoline existed. A retort of thirty-five feet in height would permit of a continuous flow of the shales through it with the steady extraction of oil. There were yet to be carried out improvements, he explained, that could retain the more volatile parts of the product which are now wasted.

Another pathetic little feature of everyday life is the way the wife of a middle-aged man thinks he would look younger if he'd have his hair cut differently.

MINISTER MEETS TOMATO GROWERS

Capital City Hothouse Tomato Growers' Association Elects Officers at Banquet

The second annual meeting of the Capital City Hothouse Tomato Growers' Association, and the first banquet meeting of the organization, was held last night in the Chamber of Commerce. The tables were artistically decorated with tomatoes and seasonable flowers, which formed a pleasant Autumn medley of red, yellow and orange.

At the end of the banquet, the Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, addressed the meeting, and gave a number of very interesting and illuminating figures with regard to the subject of exports and imports.

In his opinion the chief cure for the last year's tomato situation, and the obvious improvement in this respect was the enforcement of the "Dumping Act," which provides for at least five cents per pound dumpage, and, incidentally, enforcement with a capital "E."

The election of officers then took place, which resulted in the following being appointed: President, Mr. F. B. Dempster; vice-president, Mr. P. A. Cockeram; secretary, Mr. F. J. Skelton; treasurer, Mr. B. Pankin; directors, Messrs. J. Hutchinson, George Joe, Limbang; auditors, Messrs. J. B. Steele and A. J. Osborne; brokers, Messrs. Oppenheimer & Fraser, Limited.

Resort Modes Feel the Pulse of Spring

NEW zest, light, life and color sound the keynote to the unusual interest offered in fabricdom. The brilliance and lustre required in modern materials for designs suitable to the modern woman, from evening apparel down to the most demure of daytime wear, is evolved from combining rayon threads with those of silk, cotton or wool. Thus newly vital and practical weaves are created with an ever-varying appeal.

Woolens have stepped to the front ranks of fashion for resort, sports and daytime models, revealing by means of rayon mixtures infinite possibilities in novelties of weave and coloring which lift them from the mediocrity and standardization of the woolens of past years.

In the hands of Molyneux, so famous for the tailored type, a novelty wool and rayon fabric is created into a very smart frock. This fabric is shown in a soft lightish blue mixed with white, which forms a small checked pattern, slightly discernible in the illustration. In reality this dress suggests the coat type, but is a compromise between that and the one-piece.

The material here is used three ways, up, down and diagonally, the latter on sleeves, collar and lower section of the peplum effect.

Quite a different weave of wool and rayon is shown in the tailleur of three pieces illustrated—an original model from Suzanne Talbot in a sparkling shade of lichen green. The silk and rayon blouse is bordered with the wool mixture, the scarf collar is attached to the blouse and worn closely about the neck. A new note is struck in the coat, which in this case is sans collar. Skirt seams are pressed to resemble pleats.

Frocks and tailleurs of this type will be popular as long as the weather permits the wearing of light-weight woolens, but their prestige at Southern resorts is assured. Further, they are forerunners of modes for Spring.

MERCHANT MARINE CLAIMS SYMPATHY

Admiral Bruen and Mr. Barker, of British Sailors' Society, Address Audience

"Canada is growing enormously; there is an extraordinary future for Canada. But that future is essentially bound up with the mercantile marine. Your goods must be carried, and they must be carried by sea, so that every Canadian, directly or indirectly, is personally concerned with the mercantile marine, which is a living, pulsing body of individual men who call for sympathy to an extent to which no other body of men has a claim," said Mr. Herbert E. Barker, general secretary of the British Sailors' Society, addressing an audience yesterday at the Connaught Seamen's Institute.

The meeting was called at the invitation of the Ladies' Guild, which arranged the occasion as a reception tea in honor of Admiral E. F. Bruen, C.B., president and director of the British Sailors' Society, and Mr. Barker, who have just concluded a transcanada tour in the interests of their organization and the men who come under its benevolent influence.

Admiral Bruen was the first speaker of the afternoon, devoting a half-hour address to a history of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society. Founded more than one hundred years ago, the organization had only within the last two years dropped the "Foreign" from its title because of the misconception which existed that the word implied work among sailors of other nations, whereas it was intended to cover the activities of the society on behalf of British sailors in foreign ports. Everyone familiar with the temptations and hardships to which the sailor is subject readily recognized the great need of such an organization. The speaker referred to the wide scope of the British Society's activities, one branch of their work, "The Samaritans," even providing medical attention for sailors and seamen who needed such.

The object of the tour across Canada was touched upon. Canada had a growing mercantile marine, and although many Canadians living away from the seaboard had never seen a sailor, they had a very definite connection with the sailor because of what he represented in the mercantile marine which took Canadian products to all the markets of the world. On their present trip they were visiting the various institutions in Canada which were interested in the welfare of the sailor, and were also trying to rouse general interest in the sailor and his needs.

The Canadian Government, the meeting was told, had made good provision for the hospital, surgical, or medical treatment of the mercantile marine. But that was not sufficient. Humanity demanded that something should be made up in the life of the merchant seaman to take the place of that which he lost by his calling. That was where such societies as the Connaught Seamen's Institute and the Ladies' Guild were so valuable in filling the gap in the seamen's life and surroundings.

"There is no need to coddle the sailor or bottle-feed him. But we do need to guard the very critical years of the young sailor's life," Mr. Barker told his audience in indicating the special usefulness of such bodies in providing healthy entertainment and amusement for the sailor when he comes ashore. Especially important was the nature of the sailor's reception the moment he arrived in port. In those first twenty-four hours his craving for adventure and excitement was strongest, and it was essential that he should not fall into evil hands. A boy's whole life could be permanently spoiled if he stopped at port without friendly guidance at a critical time. The British Sailors' Society had established a fairly good port-to-port connection whereby the young sailor was met as he came ashore and introduced to the right kind of companions and surroundings.

One of the difficulties with which the society had to contend was the creation of constantly changing traps to catch the unwary. They might warn the sailor against doped drink, for instance, only to find the evil in some unsuspected form elsewhere.

"You must think of the sailor as the lifeblood of the Empire, not only in time of war but in time of peace. For he is the means by which the Empire is bound together," noted the speaker in recalling the tribute which the King and Prince of Wales had paid to the mercantile marine when the former created the latter Master of the Merchant Service. This was the first time that the merchant service had been recognized as part of the Empire forces.

"The merchant service undoubtedly saved Britain from starvation during the war, just as the Royal Navy saved the Empire from invasion," the audience were reminded. They were also reminded that the reputation of the Empire, the foreign nations' conception of a British subject, depended greatly on the sailor and seaman. It was from these men, more than from the official class, that Italy, France, and Spain gained their idea of an Englishman.

"We cannot make him braver, for everyone knows how heroic he can be; but if we can do anything to make the conditions ashore better for him, conditions that will make him more contented and happy, then we should," said Mr. Barker.

Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce paid a glowing tribute to Admiral Bruen in a short address which he gave. He might have honorably retired into private life after his long service in the navy. Instead, he was devoting his life to the seamen's interests. The local organization was also praised for its activities on behalf of the sailor; it was time Canada, now a flourishing Dominion, showed a decent pride and independence by not only keeping up her own seamen's institutes, but doing something toward repaying the Motherland for much assistance in the past.

Colonel Wilby and Mr. Arthur Coles, members of the Connaught Seamen's Institute committee, moved and seconded the vote of thanks to the speakers, and to Mme. Claudet, the vocalist, and her accompanist, Major Watts, who added much to the pleasure of the occasion with their musical contributions.

Mrs. Alice Thomson, president of the Ladies' Guild, presided, and with her at the head table at tea, following the addresses, there were, besides the guests-of-honor, Admiral Bruen, Mr. Barker, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie, the following: Dean Quainton, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, representing the Provincial I.O.D.E.; Mrs. Corby, representing the Municipal Chapter; Mrs. Hodgins, the Overseas League; Mrs. R. B. McMicking, life member; Mrs. Ashburnham, Mme. Claudet, Major Watts, Colonel Wilby and Mr. Arthur Coles, and Mrs. Healey Ker and Mrs. Wilby, who poured tea.

Entertains Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Buckley, 2415 Fernwood Road, entertained a few friends on Saturday night, after the Rotary ice carnival, in honor of Mrs. G. Pownall, who will leave for England in the near future. The evening was spent in cards, games and songs, and finished with a dance. Thomas Pownall assisted at the piano, and also gave a vocal solo. Out-of-town guests were Mr. Dave Fraser (Mrs. Buckley's brother) and Mr. Jack Thompson, of Bamberton, B.C. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlow, Mrs. R. Ireland, Mrs. Timms, Mrs. J. Creed, Miss Olive Ireland, Miss Jean McNaughton, Miss Lily McNaughton, Miss Hilda Cross, Mr. Vivian, Mr. Bergstrom, Mr. R. Watson, Mr. F. Thomas, Mr. G. Tergeson and others.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Rusty Finds a Comfortable Bed

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Still Rusty, the Fox Squirrel journeyed on. He had many adventures, but the life of any of the little folks of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest is very largely made up of adventures. They have them every day. So at last Rusty came to a country where the nut crop had not failed. It was many, many miles from Farmer Brown's, and Rusty had been very many days making the journey. But as he feasted on hickory nuts, beechnuts and acorns, he decided that the journey had been worth while.

"Now," said he, talking to himself, for he had no one else to talk to, "I must find a place to live. At least, I must find a comfortable bed. I think I shall stay here. This looks to me like a very good land. I imagine there are some very nice people living hereabouts. I hope I shall find as nice neighbors as I left back in the Green Forest by Farmer Brown's."

He first made quite certain that there was no one in that hollow tree

Having eaten all the nuts he could hold, Rusty set about exploring in quest of a home. After a long search, he found a tree that was hollow and had a nice entrance fairly high from the ground. He first made quite certain that there was no one in that hollow tree. Then he ventured in. There was a bed of dry leaves. It wasn't much of a bed. Rusty curled up on it. He didn't intend to remain long, because he first wanted to make sure that that didn't belong to anybody else. But his stomach was full and a full stomach makes one sleepy. Hardly had Rusty curled up when his eyes closed and he was asleep.

It was a very comfortable bed in spite of the fact that it was not very elaborate. Rusty began to dream and his dreams were very pleasant dreams. He dreamed that he found a woodland, every tree of which was a nut tree. Every tree was loaded with nuts. There were all kinds of nuts. It seemed as if all the Squirrels in the world were there. But there was no quarreling, for there were nuts enough for all.

Now, that is the nicest kind of a dream that a Squirrel can have and Rusty was right in the midst of it, having the most wonderful time, when suddenly his eyes flew wide open and he was wide awake. There were no nuts to eat and no Squirrels. Instead, he was in a strange place. For a moment, he couldn't remember where he was.

Then it all came back to him suddenly. He knew something must have wakened him. His heart began to beat a little faster. He pricked up his ears and listened. There was the sound of claws on the outside of that tree. Could it be that it was the owner of this bed? Was it another Squirrel? Was it just some chance visitor? All these thoughts went through Rusty's head as he lay there listening.

What to do! Should he remain hidden there, or should he rush out now? This house seemed like a deserted house. Certainly, there was no fresh odor to show that anyone had been there recently.

Probably it is just some one who happened to climb this tree," thought Rusty. "If it is any one who doesn't own this nest, I've got just as much right to it as he has. I think I'll keep quiet. Perhaps I won't be discovered at all."

So Rusty remained perfectly still. But you may be sure that his ears were pricked up all the time. And you may be sure that he kept his eyes fast on the little round opening by which he had entered. So he lay there for some time and nothing happened, excepting that now and again he heard the sound of claws on the outside of the tree.

The next story—"Rusty Bites a Tail."

MANCHESTER IS A BUSY CENTRE

British Seaport Offers Good Market for Distribution of Canadian Produce

"Not only does the port of Manchester offer Canada direct shipping facilities which rank among the best and most economical in the world, but it lies at the heart of the greatest and most compact market for Canadian fruit and other produce in Great Britain," the English publication, "Canada," says in an article devoted to this British port. "It is the natural, commercial and distributing centre for a closely populated area, for within a radius of fifty miles there are about 10,000,000 people—a little more than the entire population of Canada.

"The Manchester area as a market for Canadian produce is the more important because of the enormous potential consumption of foodstuffs, indicated by the fact that the teeming population consumes some 60,000 tons of butter, 33,000 tons of cheese, over a million tons of wheat, almost 100,000 tons of bacon and hams, 13,000 tons of canned, salted and cured fish, and, roughly, 600,000,000 eggs. This estimate refers to the 10,000,000 population within fifty miles of the port, disregarding home supplies.

"The port of Manchester is the third port in the United Kingdom," the article continues, "and is fifty-five miles from the sea, at the end of the famous Ship Canal, one of the engineering wonders of the world. The dock estate is 406½ acres in area, including a water space of 120 acres and nearly six miles of quays. The quay and storage area is 280½ acres in extent. There are eight docks at present in use, and another not constructed. A feature is that, free from exacting conditions, the designers were able to lay out the docks on an economical plan which reduced the handling of cargoes to a minimum, whilst the arrangement of docks and quays was simplified."

Mrs. Murphy, whose youngest son was soldiering in India, had just received a cablegram from him saying he would be coming home on leave.

Greatly excited, she ran in next door to her neighbor and imparted the wonderful news.

In the course of conversation Mrs. Casey picked up the cablegram which her neighbor had dropped on the floor.

"Wonderful quick things, these be, ain't they?" she observed.

"Indade they are," agreed the excited mother. "Quick ain't after being the word for it. Why, to be sure, the gum ain't dry yet what's on the envelope."

A struggling young artist was married recently, I read. Apparently he didn't struggle hard enough.

Life looks rosy for him

Health worth more than fortune

THE baby to be envied is the one who is born with an inheritance of perfect health, to begin with. And who's lucky enough to have a mother who knows how to build up this fortune.

"Perhaps I'm old-fashioned," she'll say to the doctor who pronounces her child physically 100% at a baby show, "but this health certificate means more to me than all the stock certificates in the world. If my baby grows up strong and well, I'm willing to leave it to him to make a career and fortune for himself."

Already I'm teaching him the value of regular habits. Regular sleep, regular meals, regular functions. He's never once been off schedule, not even when he was cutting teeth or traveling to the country. I make sure of that by giving him Nujol regularly."

Nujol works so easily and naturally that it won't upset a baby under any conditions. It keeps everything functioning properly. It not only prevents any excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming but aids in their removal. It is safe and sure. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York.

Heir to millions

Just try Nujol for your baby. Give it to him regularly for the next three months. See if it doesn't make things much easier for both of you. Certainly it could do no harm — for Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. Your druggist carries it. Be sure you get the genuine. Sold only in sealed packages.

The marriage took place on Saturday evening, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. J. LATEST SPORT THE WORLD OVER

Jack Britton Is Going Strong Despite Years

Fine Example Shown by Veteran Ringmaster —Tommy Loughran Thinks Mickey Walker Most Suitable Opponent for Him

By TOMMY LOUGHRAN
Light Heavyweight Champion of the World
(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The opening of the New Madison Square Garden in Boston on Saturday will be the biggest boost boxing ever received in New England. This edifice, seating 18,000, has been erected at North Station. The opening bout presents Honeyboy Dick Finnegan, the best liked ringman in Massachusetts, and Andre Routis, the new featherweight champion of the world. Tex Rickard is operating the new plant with Huntingdon Hardwick, former Harvard football star, playing the role of president of the Madison Square Garden Club. It is the fashion now for the boxing game to be surrounded with something of a social halo, at least in so far as its handling is concerned. Well, why not? There isn't any reason why a rough atmosphere is needed any more than it is needed in baseball or any other sport.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN

It wasn't so many years ago that boxing was an undercover racket. Now it has grown up and put on long trousers, as it were, and is supported by the best people. It ought to be, for no other game provides as many thrills.

This Routis-Finnegan match, I understand, has Boston all excited. Finnegan is close to being the best 130-pounder in this country. He can't get down to the featherweight limit and be strong, so the title Routis won from Tony Canzoneri isn't in danger. Andre is in a little physical danger, though, for Honeyboy is a terrific hitter for his inches.

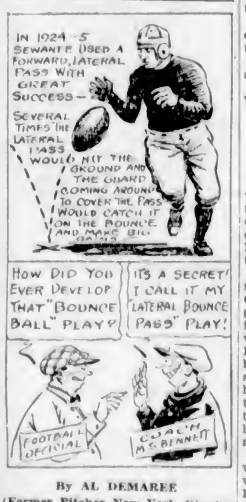

BRITTON GOING STRONG

Incidentally, in Boston, Jack Britton is boxing a young fellow named Larry Brignolia. Britton, at forty-three years of age, is still capable of beating most of the youngsters around his weight. New England is solidly sold on him, for he has trimmed nearly everyone he faced up there. It just goes to show what clean living and cleverness will do for a man.

Johnny Dundee is another example of that. On Monday night he outpointed Gaston Charles, the French featherweight, in a ten-round bout in New York. John has been in the ring for eighteen years, and only a fighter can realize exactly what that means. In his day Dundee was one of the greatest lightweights of his time, and failed to become a champion in that division only because Benny Leonard, one of the most marvelous champions that ever drew on a glove, stood in his way. However, he did win the feather and junior lightweight titles.

The Delaney-Slattery fight scheduled for Madison Square Garden on November 30, has been postponed because Delaney has acquired some new injury. This fight was supposed to produce an opponent for me. I'm not worrying. I still think that Mickey Walker is the best of the light-heavyweight contenders and deserves the first shot at my title.

Bounce Pass Made Good Gains for Sewanee

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

"In 1924-25 at Sewanee University we had considerable success with a forward, lateral pass," Coach M. S. Bennett was telling me the other day, "and on several occasions the lateral pass would hit the ground and a guard coming around to cover the pass would catch it on the bounce and make considerable ground. Several times coaches and officials asked me in the past how I developed a 'bounce bail' play.

"I never took the play seriously until one day, after a game, the referee cornered me and asked for a scientific explanation of how a 'bounce pass' might be effective, if not practical.

"It is ridiculous to think any coach would spend any time trying to develop a 'bounce pass' with a football. The shape of a football precludes any attempt at a true bounce in any given direction, for it is liable to bounce in any and all directions when it hits the ground.

"I used the play the same as any other lateral pass. It was merely a fluke or fumble when the ball hit the ground. We always recovered the ball because we took the extra precaution of sending a man around to cover the pass.

"If the rule making a ball 'dead' after a lateral pass hits the ground was made to stop 'bounce passes,'" said Bennett, in conclusion, "it was foolish on the part of the rules committee to take away the thrill that players, officials and spectators get out of a play they thought was regular. Possibly in time some coach would have really developed a 'bounce pass.'"

SENATORS WILL BE HOME BREWS

Ottawa Squad in N.H.L. for Greater Part Product of Local Rink — Only One Outsider

TEAM IS YOUNGEST IN MANY SEASONS

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—There is a firmly-rooted conviction among the fans of this city, carried over from the time before the players were paid, that Ottawa boys should be in the majority on the Ottawa hockey team. Ever since the National Hockey League was formed, the management of the local representatives in the big time circuit has encouraged that sentiment. Never before to such an extent as this season have the Senators been the product of the school rinks of Ottawa. Frank Nighbor, a citizen of Pembroke, Ontario, is the only outsider so far, although one other may be added later.

The present team is also the youngest that has ever carried the red, white and blue colors in the N.H.L. schedule. Nighbor and George Boucher are the only veterans. Nighbor will be at centre, with Frank Finnegan right wing and Hector Kilrea on the left. Boucher and Frank Clancy will be the regular defence, with A. Connell in goal. Alex. Smith will be the mainstay of the defence subs. The other subs are, Len Grosvenor (centre and left wing), Bill Touhey (centre and left wing) with Stratford last year, Milt Halliday (centre) with London, Ont., last year; Jack Duggan and Fred Elliott (forwards), Allan Shields (defence), who started with the Senators last year.

Local fans are confident that several real stars will be developed from the youngsters.

Dave Gill will again be the coach and manager.

VICTORIA BOXERS SHOW GOOD FORM AT PORT ANGELES

Victoria pugilists made a big hit with the Port Angeles fans Monday night, when they competed against outside talent in a show staged under the auspices of the American Legion, as one of the attractions of their Armistice Day celebration.

Dave Lewis appeared in the six-round main event against "Bear Cat" Briedin, of Olympia, and he greatly surprised the fans by stowing the crack Olympia pugilist away via the K.O. route in the fifth round. For the first four rounds Lewis outboxed Briedin and in the fifth he stood toe to toe exchanging right-hand punches and demonstrated that body blows are more effective than head punches as it was not long before the Olympia boy sagged and went to the canvas.

Chris Langdron gave away a lot of weight and boxed a four-round draw with Kist, of Port Angeles. Ted Beales also got a draw with Jimmy Austin, of Olympia, and Albie and Jumbo Davies put up a four-round exhibition that greatly pleased the fans.

Tombstone Match

W. Okell and Miss H. Dawson captured the mixed foursomes tombstone competition played at the Macaulay Point Golf Club on Thanksgiving Day, by planting their flag on the green at the twentieth hole.

Norman Wallace and Miss H. Blankenback took second place by reaching the fairway at the nineteenth hole, while A. E. Collins and Mrs. W. E. McIntyre came a close third by holing out at the eighteenth hole.

Winners in Thanksgiving Day Hill Climb

PICTURED above are the successful riders in the annual hill-climbing contest held by the Victoria Motorcycle Club at Mount Douglas on Thanksgiving Day. Thirty fearless exponents of the motorcycling game entered in the various events, and provided one thousand thrills for the hundreds of Victorians who were on hand.

He was one of the leading scorers in the Prairie loop last season.

EX-CHAMPION TURNS JOKE ON RICKARD

Dempsey Comeback, Begun as Publicity Stunt, Later Develops Into Serious Effort

MONDAY'S FIGHT TURNING POINT

JACK DEMPSEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Jack Dempsey discussed with Tex Rickard today the possibility of staging a ring comeback, including a match with the Spanish heavyweight, Uzcudun. While no definite understanding was forthcoming, Dempsey appeared to be in a more receptive mood as to fighting again, than he has been for some time. He agreed with Rickard that Paolino would make an acceptable opponent in case he tried a comeback. Boxing observers interpreted the conference as the first step in the new "buildup" for Dempsey, who is not expected to fight until sometime next year.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In the beginning, according to those who are in a position to know, the ballyhoo for the comeback of Jack Dempsey was designed as a gigantic hoax on the dear old cash customers. It was intended as a publicity stunt to stimulate interest in the current heavyweight eliminations.

After all, business looks gloomy for Jack's pal, Tex Rickard, and Jack has always been a soft-hearted chap with his pals.

Now it turns out that, in addition to convincing the public, Jack has also convinced himself. Everybody else took him seriously, and he wound up by becoming serious himself.

THE TURNING POINT

The turning point between fun and fury came last Monday night at Madison Square Garden, when he saw Paolino Uzcudun wobble under one of Otto Von Porat's rights to the jaw. Then and there Dempsey made up his mind that the comebacking business wouldn't be so hazardous after all. The effect of the punch was the convincer.

Since then he has told a number of his friends that he would like to see what would happen if fighters like Paolino walked into him.

"I think I ought to do pretty well with guys like that," he declared.

"I couldn't help but connect, and I'd be the most surprised one in the place if they were still standing there after I did connect."

It begins to look like the kidder got kidded. The joke backfired, but fortunately no one will be hurt except the poor unfortunate who is picked as Jack's opponent.

St. Aidan's Win

St. Aidan's—Terry, Head, Donnelly, Layland, Hardy, Edwards, Graham, Stewart, D. Graham, S. Stewart and Label.

Colwood—Brian, Walsh, A. Brian, Peatt, Meadows, Piercy, Brown, Colbert, Wilson, T. Piercy, V. Piercy.

SEATTLE, Nov. 13.—Members of the Seattle Eskimos, Pacific Coast Hockey League, follow:

Sensational Stand of Kippax and Bradman for New South Wales Feature of Game

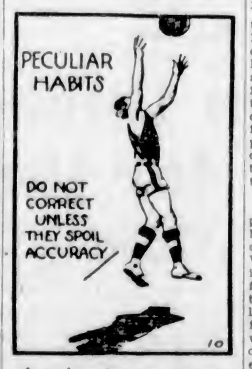

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 13—(C.P. Cable via Reuter's).—The cricket match between England and New South Wales, which was left drawn today, continued to be sensational right to the end. Another record was established today when Kippax and Bradman put on 249 in New South Wales' second innings, which is the biggest score ever made for this Australian club against England for the fourth wicket. England made 734 for seven wickets, declared in their first innings, to which New South Wales replied with 349.

The Australians followed on, and, after three good wickets had fallen for 115 runs, it looked as if the visitors were going to obtain the first victory of their tour. However, Kippax was joined by Bradman, the twenty-year-old hope of Australia, and they proceeded to annihilate the English bowling. They were undefeated when time was reached, Kippax having scored 136 and Bradman 132.

Basketball Lessons

If a player has some little peculiarity in shooting for a basket, is it feasible to correct it?

Answered by
HOWARD B. ORTNER
Coach, Cornell University

No, unless the coach finds that the peculiarity impairs his effectiveness. The best way is to try to give this player special attention on his shooting form and see how he reacts. If he readily picks up in his shooting, after corrected, then make him shoot the proper way. If the habit is so deeply ingrained that it is difficult to change, allow him to shoot his own way.

FOLEY WILL ARRIVE HERE ON THURSDAY

Fielding's Opponent for Big Fight Saturday Will Work Out Tomorrow Night and Friday

VANCOUVER FANS COMING FOR MIX

Tommy Fielding started boxing again at the Tillicum Club last night so as to get his eye into shape for what looks like being the most crucial bout of his career, when he meets Vic Foley in the ten-round main event of the Victoria Boxing Club bouts which are to be staged at the Tillicum Gymnasium Saturday night.

Fielding and Manager Bayley witnessed the clever Vancouver fighter in action against Champion Roy at Vancouver a week ago, and they are convinced in their minds that Foley will be beaten Saturday night. Joe Bayley has already wagered one thousand dollars with Vancouver sportsmen that Fielding will win, and he stated today that he will place more bets when the Vancouver sportsmen arrive here Friday and Saturday.

VANCOUVERITES COMING

The majority of the Vancouver fans, and, as a matter of fact, quite a number of the locals, do not concede Fielding a chance to win; they figure a bet at even money on Foley to win is a cinch, and Joe and his friends will certainly have to empty their stockings and cash in their Victory bonds if they wish to take all the bets that are offered them. According to Manager Jack Allen, a big crowd is coming over to take in the fight, and it is their intention to take all bets that are offered on the local fighter.

One thing that Allen is insistent on is that good officials must be appointed, as he does not want to contend with any unfavorable home town decisions. He stated that he was quite prepared to accept any capable person or persons who may be appointed by the Victoria Boxing Club commissioners, but he must have a guarantee that these persons are perfectly familiar with all phases of the ring game.

Foley will arrive in the city Thursday afternoon, and will work out so that the fans can get a chance to see him in action. It has not yet been definitely decided as to where he will train, but an announcement will be given later.

The balance of the card promises to be of exceptional merit, as the club is negotiating for the services of three top-notch performers who will be pitted against local boys.

SIDELIGHTS ON LOCAL SPORT

The 1,000 fans who witnessed the benefit soccer match on Thanksgiving Day, between the picked elevens from the Saturday and Wednesday Leagues were, no doubt, subjected to a rude awakening, and in more ways than one. The victory of the Wednesday team was perhaps the biggest shock of the season, but the clean way in which the game was played proved beyond doubt that good, clean soccer can be played here as well as in other parts of the country. The game was an example as how it should be played, and it is hoped that the lesson will go home.

* * * * *

The midweek team is to be congratulated on its showing, and to say that the best team won is only telling the truth. The six men on the defence for the winners looked the best that have been turned out for many years. When the soccer bosses go about the task of picking the best eleven in the city they will certainly have to give the Wednesday League players some consideration.

Professional hockey will be revived here on Tuesday, November 20, when the Victoria Cubs meet Frank Patrick's Vancouver Lions at the Willows Ice Palace. The success of the rejuvenated Pacific Coast League will, we are apt to think, depend greatly on the brand of hockey the teams dish up, for, after all, the cash customers like value for money received. The fact that the prices will be lower will, no doubt, meet with favorable comment from the fans, but apart from this point, local followers of the puck-chasing pastime are always prepared to pay for their entertainment when the standard is high enough.

* * * * *

Tommy Fielding, Victoria's most promising pugilist, will meet one of his toughest opponents when he opposes the clever and experienced Vic Foley on Saturday night. Fielding has fought a number of good fights, and local fans look for him to take the decision from the Mainland battler. Tommy has his hands full, but should he come through with a win, his pathway to the top of the ladder will be greatly shortened.

Joe Marcus Wins

PORTLAND, Nov. 13.—Joe Marcus, Portland lightweight, scored a ten-round decision over Bobby Fernandes, Los Angeles boxer, here tonight. Marcus had a slight shade over the little Mexican, who was outweighed by seven pounds.

Football Meeting

An important meeting of the Victoria and District Juvenile Football League will be held in the Y.M.C.A. tonight at 8 o'clock. All clubs are asked to have delegates in attendance.

Hawaiian Pineapples Show Wonderful Form

Defeat Young Canadians by Overwhelming Score of 1-0 in Season's Greatest Ice Battle—Lone Goal Argued by Losers in Vain

There was plenty of lightning skating, brilliant stickhandling and wonderful combination last night at the Willows Arena when a team of old-timers called the Young Canadians, and led by George Straith, had the audacity to think they could lick another team of veterans, skippered by Eric George, and named the Honolulu Pineapples. There was no such possibility. This was ably demonstrated when the Pineapples won by the overwhelming score of 1-0, after sixty minutes of torrid hockey.

Harry Smith was the person who accounted for the decisive victory registered by the Pineapples. Harry, showing his real old form, which delighted thousands a decade ago, swept along the length of the ice, eluded the veteran Percy Fitzsimmons at first defence, George Straith at second defence, Vic King at third defence, and several others at cover point and other vantage points, and then beat the masked marvel, Percy Watson, with a bullet drive from seven feet, three and three-quarter inches out.

OBJECTION OVERRULED

There was much argument centred around this great display by Smith. George Straith claimed he (Smith) had grounded his club in the first bunker, while Percy Fitzsimmons declared emphatically that Smith was offside before he left his own goal. For several minutes Referee Len Rines, who had been tieing up his shoe lace at the time of the spectacular display, consulted spectators on the play, but such a variety of angles was gathered that he went into consultation with the linesmen. After a session in camera, "Hizzoner" called it a goal. His decision was met with the loud and unanimous approval of supporters of the Pineapple squad, while the adherents of the other team whispered their disapproval of the judgment.

After the game Manager Joe Smith, of the Victoria Cubs, and several of his pro players entered the dressing-room of the Pineapples, where Referee Rines was a guest, and attempted to argue about the play. They were promptly thrown out.

The line-ups in the history-making game were:

Hawaiian Pineapples—Vic Gravlin, Eric George (late of the Hawaiian Rangers), Don Smith, Ross Oatman, Harry Smith, Gordon Meeking, and many others.

Young Canadians—Percy Watson, George Straith (formerly with Colwood Huskies), Percy Fitzsimmons, Vic King, Ivan Temple, and several more.

Ernie Cook coached the Pineapples from a box seat, while "Nap" English, who was supposed to help the Canadians, broadcast his play from home. Close to 3,000 fans were not present. There will be plenty of stiff joints today.

TROPHY WILL BE GIVEN TO MOST USEFUL PLAYER

Who is the most useful player in the Victoria and District Football League? Perhaps every fan who follows the round ball game has in mind such a player, but the matter of making the decision is to be left in the hands of a committee of three. When their decision is made, the man will be awarded the Victoria and District Football League Cup, which trophy he will retain for one year. In addition to the large perpetual cup, a miniature will be presented which will become his property.

This action followed the suggestion put forward at last night's meeting of the Victoria and District Football League by Dr. Poyntz, manager of the Victoria West aggregation.

Snell Awarded Decision Over Idaho Fighter

SEATTLE, Nov. 13.—Doc Snell, Tacoma, junior welterweight, was awarded a decision over "Spug" Myers, of Pocatello, Ida., after six rounds of slugging here tonight. Snell weighed 136½ and Myers 138¾. Al Gracio, a Spokane welter, won from "Tiger" Jensen, of Denver, Col., when the Scandinavian's seconds threw in the towel in the third round of their six-round match.

Jackie Gaston, Seattle, punched a four-round call out of Vincent Hayes, Salt Lake City, 115-pounder.

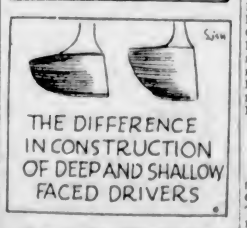

RAY SCHALK SIGNED TO ASSIST McGRAW

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The New York Giants yesterday announced the signing of Ray Schalk, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, as first assistant to Manager John J. McGraw.

Carpet Bowling

The final in the Saanich carpet bowling handicap was played last evening between Frank Byng and Harold Ivatts. The onlookers were entertained to a very fine game. Byng, who owed three, displayed good judgment in overtaking an opponent who had three of a start, a lead of six in a fifteen-point game. Ivatts scored eleven ones, making the match as close as it could possibly be; 15-14 in favor of Byng was a perfect vindication of the club handicapper. The winner becomes the owner of the Vallance Cup.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

THE DIFFERENCE IN CONSTRUCTION OF DEEP AND SHALLOW FACED DRIVERS

What is the difference between the shallow and deep-faced club?

By MIKE BRADY
Former Western Open Champion

The difference, of course, is in the construction. Both are made to serve a purpose. The golfer with the easy timed swing who can't put the punch into his shot without pressing should never use a deep faced driver, brassie or spoon. It requires a hard hitter to use these modern deep faced clubs. The average golfer will get better results with a fairly shallow club.

$1,000 TO BE SPENT ON GYM

Renovation of Tillicum Athletic Club Gymnasium to Start Immediately—New Seats Will Be Built

WILL BE HOME OF ALL FUTURE BOUTS

Officials of the Tillicum Athletic Club announced last night that an expenditure of approximately $1,000 will be entailed on work to be carried out on their gymnasium on Broad Street. The greater share of the work will be completed before Saturday's big bout between Vic Foley and Tommy Fielding, while the remainder will be completed as soon as possible.

The building will be kalsomined throughout, the ring will be lowered and redecorated, while all the chairs will be secured to the floor. This last move is taken to prevent the moving of chairs in case of fire.

Tiers of seats, seven high, are to be built at the east and west ends of the building, each section having a seating accommodation of 250. With this added number of seats the total capacity of the building will be 1,000 seated.

A fire escape is to be built at the northwestern corner of the building.

With the completion of this work the gymnasium will be a much more satisfactory place in which to hold boxing shows. Although nothing definite was stated last night, it is understood that all future bouts will be held in the renovated gymnasium.

VICTORIA GRASS HOCKEYISTS WIN FROM GANGES TEAM

A mixed grass hockey team from the city visited Ganges on Thanksgiving Day and won from the home club in an exciting match by a 2-1 score. Miss Harris scored both Victoria's goals in the first half. Des. Crofton, of Ganges, registered their lone tally shortly after the game commenced. In the second half the home team had the better of the play and only their erratic shooting prevented them from tying the count before the final whistle.

Bird, guarding the Victoria goal, was the outstanding player on the field. Time after time in the second period he stopped wicked shots that were ticketed goal.

MILLER TO OPPOSE JIMMY McLARNIN

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 13.—Ray Miller, Chicago lightweight boxer, has been signed to replace Tommy Grogan, of Omaha, as Jimmy McLarnin's opponent in a ten-round main bout here November 30, Promoter Dick Dunn announced today. Miller was signed following his two-round knockout of Lopez Tenario, Filipino boxer, here last week.

No Soccer Today

No Wednesday League soccer games will be played this afternoon. On account of the holiday on Thanksgiving Day local stores will remain open all day and as a consequence it will be impossible for the teams to turn out.

COLWOOD, Nov. 13—This evening at 7:45 o'clock, the Belmont Badminton Club will play a team representing the Victoria Y.M.C.A.

SUPERSTITION CONGENIAL TO THE MULTITUDE

Love of Supernatural and Curiosity With Regard to the Future Responsible for Mob-Trait

DEAN INGE GIVES OWN OBSERVATIONS

LONDON, Nov. 12—If the scientists and historians of the Victorian age—men like Huxley, Tyndall, Lecky and Leslie Stephen—had been told that in the third decade of the next century it would be possible to find distinguished men of science and letters who believed in necromancy and ghosts, and a large number of educated persons who believed in Lourdes and Spiritual Healing, they would no doubt have been surprised and shocked.

Liberal theologians of the same generation would have been equally disappointed to find belief in sacerdotal magic rampant everywhere.

But we have no right to expect steady intellectual progress, writes Dean Inge in The London Evening Standard.

We know a great many things that our grandfathers did not know, but we are not more intelligent than they were. And the agnosticism of the nineteenth century prepared the way for a return of obsolete beliefs.

"PLEASING VISION"

When faith is driven out at the door superstition will fly in by the window. Gibbon, in the fifteenth chapter of his great book, wrote very wisely: "A state of skepticism and suspense may amuse a few inquisitive minds. But the practice of superstition is so congenial to the multitude that if they are forcibly awakened they regret the loss of their pleasing vision. Their love of the marvelous and the supernatural, their curiosity with regard to future events and their strong propensity to extend their hopes and fears beyond the limits of the visible world are irresistible, and so urgent in the vulgar is the necessity of believing that the fall of any system of mythology will probably be succeeded by the introduction of some other mode of superstition."

Democracy, which teaches that one man's opinion is as good as another's and that great deference is due to any opinion which can command many votes, is very favorable to superstition.

"The master of superstition is the mob," said Bacon, and "in all superstitions wise men follow fools." He adds: "As it addeth deformity to an ape to be so like a man, so the similarity of superstition to religion makes it the more deformed."

THE CHURCH REFUSAL

The Rev. A. Fawkes, from whom I have borrowed these two quotations, complains that "few of us have the courage to say out what every educated man knows to be true or to deny what every educated man know to be false. This moral and, intellectual invertebrateness is the sleeping sickness of the church; their refusal to say plainly that the truth is the truth and the lie is a lie." I agree but have we not lived to hear that the truth is whatever it suits us to believe, and that in a world where all is relative we may choose among several equally tenable points of view?

But are the masses really the chief offenders? I think not. One may find in a few very remote rural parts a genuine survival of old-world superstitions. More than one village in England still has its witch. But in the towns the masses are not very superstitious.

It is at the West End that we may occasionally find one of the famous absent from a dinner party, because his or her presence would make up the unlucky number of thirteen at table.

2,000 YEARS OLD

When I had a parish in a fashionable part of London, weddings ceased in the month of May—an interesting persistence, this, of a superstition at least 2,000 years old, for it is mentioned in an old custom by Ovid.

How any intelligent person can suppose that the world is governed on these principles passes my comprehension. I can understand being an athiest or an agnostic; but I cannot understand believing in a God who would punish me for getting married in May. (I was married in May, as it happens, and nothing specially untoward has occurred to us yet.)

Perhaps in reality people are about equally superstitious in all classes. A friend of mine wished to investigate an unusually circumstantial story of a haunted house. The ghost was said to appear at the end of a long passage and slowly walk along it.

My friend took with him two detectives, and posted himself and them in concealment at the opposite end of the passage to that by which the spectre entered. After a while the ghost duly appeared at the other end, and advanced towards the watchers.

The two detectives fled howling. The psychical researcher overcame a strong disposition to do the same, and charged the ghost, head down. He charged right through it. The moon, a shiny linoleum floor-covering and the faculty of imagination, which is not always "reason in its most exalted mood," as Wordsworth calls it, were the three begetters of the apparition.

There is really hardly any limit to what we may honestly believe ourselves to have seen if we have been expecting to see it.

In the most famous of all Indian conjuring tricks a tree is made to shoot up in the sight of the spectators, and a boy climbs it, followed by a man with a knife. I have heard that a series of snapshots taken surreptitiously revealed the astonishing fact that the man and the boy were standing under the tree and never moved at all.

There is a widespread belief that experiments in psychical research have established the truth of several phenomena which cannot be accounted for by any known scientific laws. If this is so, the door is open to those who wish to believe more still.

COMMUNICATION WITH DEAD

This applies especially to telepathy, thought-transference, and other processes which fifty years ago would certainly have been regarded as superstitious. But some are disposed to credit even stories of communication between the living and the dead. I will not say that nothing would convince me of the truth of these stories, but as regards the last I think that any other explanation is more probable than that the facts are as reported.

I do not even believe in telepathy or thought-transference, though I admit that the evidence in their favor is respectable. The transference of vibrations is a very wonderful thing; but the transference of thoughts, which are immaterial, would be much more astonishing. And if these things ever occur at all, why are they so uncommon?

The real conclusion from recent researches is not, I think, that these phenomena have any objective truth, but that subjective imagination is enormously potent. "There is nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so."

BELIEF IN DOOM

I have been reading the latest scientific inquiry into the causes of the depopulation of the Pacific Islands. The conclusion is that the causes are mainly psychological; the islanders believed that they were doomed, and so they sat down and died. Now in most of the islands they have decided to live, and their numbers are beginning to grow. Imagination can do almost anything, except cause unreal facts to happen in the external world.

The love of the marvelous is not likely to be eradicated from human nature. For some minds, magic and miracle made a kind of bridge between the seen and the unseen—even a kind of Jacob's ladder from earth to heaven.

Newman, in 1848, wrote to a friend who had recently followed him in his defection from Anglicanism: "To feel yourself surrounded by holy arms and defences, with the priests' benedictions, with crucifixes and rosaries which have been blessed, with holy water, with places or with acts to which indulgences have been attached—what can one desire more than this?"

MAKING LIFE MISERABLE

Julian the Apostate need not have been troubled about the victory of "the Galilean" over Paganism when after eighteen hundred years this sort of thing can pass for Christianity.

What should be our attitude towards these and other superstitions? Mankind has outgrown them, both morally and intellectually; they are contemptible and demoralizing. And yet they show no signs of dying out, even in the most civilized countries. Probably they will shrink into a smaller compass. They are no longer believed in heavily.

Full belief in superstitions makes the life of the believer miserable; it is half-belief that gives a feeling of luxurious pleasure. Anatole France says of his Abbe Coignard, "Il mepriasit les hommes, mais il les mepriasit avec tendresse." But I am not sure that we ought to be tender with superstitions. They are very degrading. A false religion is one of the most evil things in the world, because it excludes a true religion. As an American said: "I would rather know nothing than know such a tarnation lost of things that ain't so."

Rumania to Celebrate Reunion of Country

BUCHAREST, Nov. 13.—The cabinet council today fixed December 3 as the date for a nation-wide celebration of the tenth anniversary of the reunion of Transylvania and Bessarabia with Rumania. A great patriotic congress of Rumanians from all the provinces will assemble at Alba Julia, the historic seat of Rumanian independence. It was announced that all the political parties, including the Liberals, will participate.

The question of the participation of the National Peasants' Party in these celebrations was the rock upon which the Government of Vintilla Bratianu was wrecked.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 13.—Charles Magnette today was elected speaker of the Belgium Senate by sixty-three votes out of seventy-two. The Socialist Senators abstained from voting.

C.N.R. TAKE THREE

Canadian National Railways trundlers sprang their second surprise of the season last night, when they took three games from the Times Compos on the Arcade Alleys. The winners passed the 700-mark in the first two games and made a fitting conclusion of a good night's rolling by topping 811 pins in the last game. H. Stuart, of the C.N.R., was high aggregate with 533, while E. Whitehead, a teammate, annexed high individual honors with 193.

WILL NOT PUT DUTY ON FOOD

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN SAYS PARTY WILL NOT PUT TARIFF ON WHEAT

Unwise to Revive Proposal of Tariff Preference in Britain on Canadian Grain

MONTREAL, Nov. 13. — "The policy of the Conservative party in Great Britain is that whenever there is a duty there should be a British preference, but I am convinced that the party will certainly refrain from proposing any new duties on foodstuffs. The idea therefore, of any new preference on Canadian wheat must be abandoned, unless and until a great change comes over our people, and indeed, unless a large section of another party is convinced that such change is necessary. At the present moment it would be impossible to carry such a proposal, and therefore it is unwise to revive it."

This was the reply of Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, when asked tonight during an interview what effect the coming British election would have in promoting, or otherwise, the project of an Imperial reciprocal preference.

Sir Austen, Lady Chamberlain, and family arrived here tonight from Ottawa. They will depart tomorrow for Quebec City, from where they will sail on Saturday for England.

"I think the existing preference has already been of considerable advantage to Canadian trade and that advantage will increase as you develop your manufacturing resources," added Sir Austen. "Indeed, the indirect effect of this has been to lead United States manufacturers to establish works in Canada in order to benefit from the preference in their English trade.

"I think that, following the next general elections, there will be an extension of the safeguarding duties which have proved so successful in cases in which they have been applied, and that would enlarge the existing field for preference. You ask me whether I consider the people of Great Britain will renew the lease of power to Mr. Baldwin and his Government. Well, I am convinced they will. I understand Mr. Ramsay MacDonald proclaimed the victory of the Labor Party when he was in Canada, and I see that he has been talking a good deal about the municipal elections; but his chickens are not yet hatched, and I am convinced that he is premature in counting them."

Rebids and Assists

South's bid of one Heart is based upon minimum values, but after North's two assists of the bid, South is justified in going to four Hearts. West's holding warrants a rebid even without encouragement from his partner, and following such rebid East's holding calls for an assist. Neither East nor West, however, can go further than three Spades.

BRITISH BUILD ELECTRIC SHIP

Oil Tanker Brunswick First of Its Type Ever Attempted in Old Country

LONDON (By Mail)—The first large British-built ship to be propelled by electricity is now approaching completion on the Clyde. She is the oil tanker Brunswick, owned by the Atlantic Refining Co., of Philadelphia, and she has been constructed by Scotts' Shipbuilding and Engineering Co., at Greenock.

Having a gross tonnage of 9,200 and a dead weight carrying capacity of 12,500 tons, she is the largest electrically-driven merchant ship afloat. The length is 469 feet, breadth sixty-three feet, and the depth 36¾ feet. She is propelled by electro-motors, taking current from generators driven by four fast-running Diesel engines.

Although the Diesel machinery was manufactured in Belgium, the electric motors and other electrical plant are of British construction. The fact that a British firm should have been entrusted by American owners with the construction is a feather in the cap of our shipbuilding industry.

Yet another interesting vessel is about to be constructed on the Clyde by the Blythswood Shipbuilding Co., Ltd., Scotstoun. This is a cargo ship ordered by Liverpool owners. She will have ordinary reciprocating engines, but the boilers will be fired by pulverized coal. Plant will be installed on board for reducing ordinary bunker coal to fine powder and injecting it into the furnaces. One of two foreign craft, notably the American freighter Mercer, already uses pulverized coal, but this is the first British vessel in which the system has been adopted.

At The Playhouses

COLUMBIA THEATRE Betty Blythe and Lon Chaney, who play the principal roles in "Nomads of the North," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, give a demonstration of histrionic teamwork which is seldom equalled on the screen. Both are called upon to portray characters which exact very accurate interpretation in order to accomplish the desired results in visualization and the manner in which they acquit themselves has brought profusely laudatory reviews from the leading critics.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE In "Lady Windermere's Fan," the Ernst Lubitsch production for Warner Bros., now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, Irene Rich's personality undergoes a radical and complete change from the neglected wife roles which she has been accustomed to playing in the past. Of great importance in making her the slender, seductive, sophisticated woman of the world, living by her wits, were the eight gorgeous gowns designed for Miss Rich by Sophie Wachner. The remainder of the cast of "Lady Windermere's Fan" includes Ronald Colman (by arrangement with Samuel Goldwyn), May McAvoy, Bert Lytell and Edward Martindel.

CAPITOL THEATRE Showing for the last times today at the Capitol Theatre is the Lillian Gish production, "The Wind," with Lars Hanson. This fine picture comes to Victoria after record breaking runs all over America, and Eastern Canada, and is easily one of the finest vehicles this popular dramatic actress has appeared in. The stage presentations offer the Louisville Trio, colored harmony singers supreme; the Desleys Sisters, dancers and vocalists, and Betty Anderson, the ever popular soprano soloist, in song selections. This week also marks the farewell week of Harold Bechtel, the singing M.C.

COLISEUM THEATRE One of the most famous successes in history has been proven one of the most successful film comedies in years in "Baby Mine," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hilarious filmization of the Margaret Mayo play, now being shown at the Coliseum Theatre. Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, heroes of "Rookies," are co-starring as a comedy team in the new picture, which Robert Z. Leonard directed. Charlotte Greenwood and Louise Lorraine are in the cast.

DOMINION THEATRE Small time vaudeville leading to big time love and drama. That in a sentence is "Excess Baggage," one of the most interesting and successful pictures of the year, which opened Monday at the Dominion Theatre. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has done everything humanly possible to insure this production of being great screen entertainment—and they have succeeded to the limit of their desires. It was given to James Cruze, of "Covered Wagon" fame, to direct and he chose William Haines for the star. Haines is today considered the most human personality on the screen.

Unique Interest Taken in Appearance Of Gordon McLeod

It will be a long time before there is another theatrical engagement with quite the unique interest that marks the coming visit of the brilliant young London star, Gordon McLeod, at the head of his own company. Though he is well known in Victoria as the former leading man of Sir John Martin-Harvey, and though his sensational triumphs in Sir John's role when the latter chose him to take his place both in London and in Canada have been echoed here, his engagement at the Royal next week is his first stellar appearance before a local audience. This, coupled with his phenomenal rise to stardom, makes the coming appearance an unusual one, but there is an added fillip to his visit, because the two plays in which he will be seen are so absolutely different.

"Miss Elizabeth's Prisoner," to be presented the first half of the week, is a costume comedy with a production which The Montreal Gazette described as "superlatively lovely." It was one of Lewis Waller's famous successes and, due to the fact that Mr. McLeod's version of it was staged by A. E. Anson, who was formerly associated with Mr. Waller, it has been possible to duplicate Mr. Waller's staging. It is a vigorous and stirring drama, full of action and with a strong vein of comedy. "A Bill of Divorcement," on the other hand, to be given the last half of the week, is more than modern. The date of the action is 1932 and the play is well known to everyone acquainted with the English stage as one of the most powerful of postwar dramas. In it, Mr. McLeod takes the role in which he was starred in the Old Land for a run of sixty-two solid weeks.

Flying Officers Rescue Comrades From Lake Waters

OTTAWA, Nov. 13—Two flying officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force station at Shirley's Bay were rescued by a brother officer after their seaplane crashed into Lake Deschenes near here Monday. Flying Officers Frank G. Wait and A. R. Collins were in the Civic Hospital last night suffering minor cuts and bruises about the head, as the result of the accident.

Flying Officer Nick Carter, completing a flight from Ottawawa, had landed at Shirley's Bay in a cabin monoplane when he noticed the other plane. He taxied his plane over the water at great speed and rescued Wait and Collins as they clung to the wings of the submerged machine.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Well, if your feeling toward her is changed, my boy, you certainly mustn't marry her," his father said gravely. "Women take these things very seriously—you can't deceive 'em. She'd know you didn't love her, no matter what you said."

"I'm not sure," Link began, squeezing his palms together, and fixing his distressed eyes upon his father, "I'm not sure it would make any difference with Marianne. She—it matters to her that I'm—that—"

"Rich." His father supplied the word quietly. "I see," he said. And for a while father and son sat silent, thinking.

"You see," Link began presently, in a troubled voice, "we quarrel now terribly. She—does a lot of things that make me feel mad," he confessed with a shamefaced grin. "She flirts and hurts my feelings and all that—she thinks it's funny. But she always makes it up, and she always talks—she always talks about being rich, and building a big place here some day. She said to me last week she wanted me to give her a roadster for a wedding present, said she's picked it out."

He laughed awkwardly, and his father smiled too, and pursed his lips.

"I have this feeling," Link recommenced. "If I could make the break now, while she is still waiting for her decree, then I could get away with it, because she couldn't make any fuss about it. Even though," he added doubtfully, "I don't think she would ever have applied for her divorce if it hadn't been that she wanted to marry me."

"And when does she get this decree?" the other man asked.

"About the third of February."

"That's a little more than a month," Tom Mackenzie mused heavily.

"Exactly six weeks. But the provocation," Link said, touching the folded sheets of a bulky letter he took from his dressing-gown pocket, "the provocation could be this."

"Ah-h-h!" his father said, his eyes lighting. "What's all that?"

"This is a letter she wrote me from San Francisco yesterday," Link said, ruffling the pages. "She went up there day before yesterday to see the judge. And in this letter she explains why her decree was delayed last September. If it hadn't been," he added, "we would have been married three months ago, at least. But it seems there were circumstances of which I was entirely ignorant."

"More mystery!" the father commented.

"Yes, she—she loves mystery. She writes me here that after she filed her suit for divorce, and after she and I had our understanding, her husband came to San Francisco and sent her a telegram, here to Cottonwood, that he wanted to see her. She went right up, in a horrible state of nervousness, of course."

"This was when?"

"This must have been late in January, a year ago. She didn't say anything to any one, but she went up to the hotel and they dined together, and had a sort of reconciliation, I imagine. Anyway they registered as Mr. and Mrs. Royal Scott, at the hotel, and stayed there two nights."

"My God, what a woman!" Tom Mackenzie said, in disgust.

"Well, she's funny," Link had to admit. "But anyway, on the second day she says they quarreled." He touched the letter. "I know it's awful," he agreed, in answer to his father's look. "But she's an undisciplined child. They quarreled, and Marianne, shaken by the excitement, the emotion, and the general wretchedness of the whole business, went back to her lawyer and told him to go on with the suit."

"What did you think of all this, Link? This doesn't sound to me like a very honorable way to settle things," the old man protested.

"I didn't know anything about it! I never even suspected it until tonight. She writes me about it in this letter. It seems that, when she went up to get her decree in September, there was some delay. Whether Scott had been to the court, or his attorney appeared for him and raised an objection—she doesn't make that very clear—but, anyway, the judge refused the decree, and she came back here heartbroken. We were to have been married the next day.

"But she never told me anything. She just said that there was a technical hitch, and that the divorce would go through a few months later. And I never asked her, God knows I hated the whole business!"

"Well, Link," his father said, when the bitter young voice had died into silence, "the point is whether you've got nerve enough to split, now, and character enough to stick to it when you do split. She's a mighty seductive woman to a young fellow like you."

Link heard Barbara's voice, on the same phrases. "It takes character," she had said, "to manage not only your own will, but your own vacillations!"

"But it's what I've got to do," he said to his father soberly.

"You do feel it so, son?" the other man returned, after a long, shrewd scrutiny.

"Yes, sir. It seems to me," Link smiled forlornly, "it's now or never," he said. "I've been an awful fool about it, but that doesn't mean that I want to go on being a fool."

"Well!" his father said, after another study of Link's agitated face. "Well! I admit that this takes a—considerable—load from off my heart. But she'll try to get around you," he added, suddenly anxious.

"I was wondering if I could go away. In Ben's place, say. His wife has got a young baby; he'd like to be let off the Spring trip."

"Yes, but that's—but that's—well, I think we could find you something else than that!" his father said.

"No, but that's what I'd like—that's what I'd like!" the boy said eagerly. "I'd like the hard work, and I don't believe it would do any harm to have a member of the firm meet our customers in that region—it would be a good thing all round."

"Yes, I know. But you'd be gone several weeks. Link—months, maybe."

"The longer the better! I want," said Link, "to get the taste of the whole thing out of my mouth."

Major Tom Mackenzie sighed a long, tearing sigh of relief and exhaustion, and, taking out his big handkerchief, quite frankly wiped his eyes.

"Then I think that's the thing to do," he agreed. "And I think day after tomorrow is the day to do it. When does she get back?"

"Day after tomorrow, in the afternoon; she and Mrs. Wilson and Inez went to town for Christmas."

"I think you ought to be out of the way, Link."

"I want to be. I'll answer this—" he glanced again at the letter—"tonight," he said. "I'll tell her that she hasn't been frank with me all the way through, and that married affection ought to be based upon confidence."

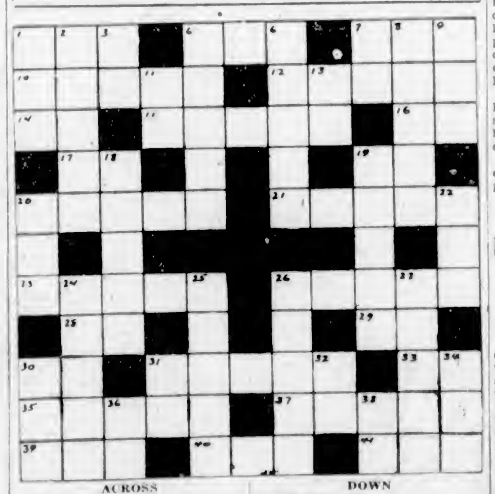

"Don't say too much. Just so she gets the idea. Tomorrow, go over and tell Lucy and Otis, have Christmas dinner with us—and make it a point to tell a few other people, by the way," the father advised, pondering, with a knitted brow. "Then early the next day come down to the office, and I'll have your itinerary and your trip planned for you, and you can get off on the one o'clock train." The other man fell silent, fingering his lip.

"And some day, after I get back," Link began with sudden self-consciousness and awkwardness, "maybe I'll thank you for being so generous to me about it."

"That can wait," his father said, embarrassed. "You've given me a pretty happy Christmas as it is!"

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Wrecked Indians Swim Across Mile Of Surf to Land

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—Two Indians of the West Coast passed through a terrific experience a week ago when their vessel sank under them and forced them to swim through a mile of roaring breakers to the beach. They would have perished of cold and exhaustion, and the cuts and bruises of the battle with the rocks and waves, had it not been for Captain A. L. Mitchell, master of the Canadian Fishing Company powerboat, Ednorina.

The Indians, bound from Queens Cove to Gardner Creek, in a cannery tender, struck a rock off Espinosa Inlet at 6 p.m., November 6, and the vessel sank in ten minutes. The two natives stripped and took the only remaining chance, an attempt to swim to land. Battered by waves and rocks, their legs cut and gashed, and their bodies pounded, they reached shore utterly exhausted and lay there in the cold of the storm for sixteen hours.

At that time, the morning of November 7, Captain Mitchell came along with his vessel and noticed the sunken tender, which had only mast and boom showing. While putting a line on her to salvage, he noticed the two naked Indians, and took them off and gave them what aid he could.

They were unable to speak. He took them and the tender to a nearby reduction plant, where they are undergoing treatment. It is believed the Indians are from Hesquiat.

Douglas Hotel Cabaret To Reopen Saturday With Clever Company

The Douglas Hotel Cabaret will reopen next Saturday with the biggest cabaret show that has ever played in Victoria. The show will be headed by Tommy Parker and Les Everson, a singing comedy duo, known throughout the States for their clever work. They will be assisted by Miss Cleo Goffe, a beautiful lyric soprano of varied musical comedy and cabaret experience. Then, too, there will be a chorus of several dancing and singing girls, each of whom is a feature dancer. The entertainment put on by this company will be decidedly different from anything ever presented in Victoria. It will be conducted under a double master of ceremonies idea, handled by "Tommy and Les." In keeping with the present vogue in the East, the entire company will also hold forth at the Playhouse Theatre in the earlier part of the evening, where they will present complete musical comedy shows of a high standard. Armistice Day Marked By Special Services at Various Island Points

COURTENAY, Nov. 13. — The tenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice was solemnly celebrated by the district here on Sunday following the sale of poppies by the Scouts on Saturday. Those ex-service men who were able to do so assembled at their headquarters in town at 10 a.m. and marched to the war memorial cairn at Sandwick, a distance of a mile. Many cars followed the parade, and on arrival at the cairn it was noticed that some decided improvements have recently been made, including cement walk and the planting of laurels by voluntary aid.

A short service was held at St. Andrew's Anglican Church, hard by the cairn. The service was conducted by Rev. G. L. Bourdillon, vicar of Courtenay and Sandwick, and Rev. W. A. Alexander, of St. George's United Church. After the singing of a hymn and Scriptural reading from Revelation, the returned men, who numbered over a hundred, under ex-Sergeant-Major R. E. Ault, filed out of the church preceded by a color party composed of Mr. C. W. Leedam, Mr. W. J. C. Bennett and Michael Perez. After placing the standard at the base of the cairn, a similar ceremony was observed by Scouts Jim Macdonald, John Avent and Bill Stewart. Wreaths were placed by Mr. W. A. B. Paul, on behalf of the Canadian Legion, Mr. G. W. Stubbs, on behalf of the Elks, and by the Guides, represented by Mable Dick, Catherine Capes and Evelyn Hilton.

Two minutes' impressive silence was followed by "Last Post" and "Reveille," sounded by Mr. Les Moody. The men then filed back into the little church to the strains of "The Piper's Lament," played by Piper W. W. Stewart. After singing "O Valiant Hearts Who to Your Glory Came," the congregation, which filled the building to overflowing, listened to a short address by Rev. G. L. Bourdillon, who took for his text the words "Arise, therefore, and be doing, and the Lord be with thee." After singing "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," the benediction was pronounced, the little church slowly emptied and the assembly dispersed until the next anniversary of Armistice Day comes round again.

LADYSMITH

LADYSMITH, Nov. 13.—The attendance at the memorial ceremonies here was exceptionally large. Additional interest in the proceedings was lent by the fact that Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, as a returned man himself, took a part in the proceedings.

In spite of the fact that the day was wet, there were many present at the first part of the day's exercises, when the returned men paraded with the school children and the Boy Scouts to the memorial on First Avenue and paid their respects to the comrades who had given their lives during the war.

Memorial wreaths were placed at the base of the cenotaph and the usual exercises manifesting respect for the memories of those who had paid the supreme sacrifice were performed, after which the parade reformed and proceeded to the theatre, where the speaking took place.

In addition to the address of the Minister of Education, there were also taking part in the proceedings Mr. Callin, at the head of the Army and Navy Veterans; Rev. E. M. Cooke, of the Anglican Church, and Rev. W. R. Brown, of the United Church. The Ladysmith Band attended and provided suitable music.

DUNCAN

DUNCAN, Nov. 13.—Nearly eight hundred people gathered in the Agricultural Hall here Sunday morning for the tenth annual Armistice Day service. This was the first occasion upon which the service here has been an indoor one, and the change proved popular. At the conclusion of the service at the hall, those present, headed by the members of the Cowichan branch, Canadian Legion, to the number of about one hundred, marched to the War Memorial on Station Street, where wreaths were deposited. Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Wolf Cubs, Brownies and members of the I.O.D.E were also on parade.

The following was the order of service at the hall: Prelude, Cowichan Orchestral Society; two minutes' silence; international prayer, Rev. W. F. Burns; anthem, "O Canada"; memorial prayer, Rev. W. F. Burns; hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past"; Scripture reading, Rev. E. M. Rollo; address, the Ven. Archdeacon H. A. Collison; hymn, "The Supreme Sacrifice."

SALT SPRING

SALT SPRING, Nov. 13.—Last Sunday at 10:45 a.m. a large crowd packed even standing room in the Mahon Hall, Ganges, where this year's Armistice service was held. Rev. J. W. Flinton conducted the service, Rev. George Aitkens and Rev. George Dean, of Ganges, taking part. An address was given by Rev. Mr. Howard, recently from Prince Edward Island. Mrs. V. C. Best was at the piano and accompanied the three hymns chosen for the commemoration, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," "God Send Us Men" and "O Valiant Hearts."

At the close of the service a procession of returned soldiers, organized by Major F. C. Turner, D.S.O., marched to the cenotaph. They were followed by the Boy Scouts, carrying the Union Jack and led by Scoutmaster Desmond Crofton. Next came the Wolf Cubs with their flag, led by Cubmaster George Birch; the Girl Guides, commanded by their captain, Mrs. T. Charlesworth, followed with their flag in the procession, with the Brownies, under Miss Lois Wilson, bringing up the rear.

Major Turner, the leaders of each organization represented, and Mrs. W. E. Scott, regent of the Ganges Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, which was well represented, placed wreaths on the cenotaph. After several other private wreaths were laid on the shrine, the National Anthem was sung.

SOOKE

SOOKE, Nov. 13.—There was a large attendance at the Armistice service held in Sooke Hall on Sunday at 11 a.m. The members of the Sooke branch of the Canadian Legion paraded. The two minutes' silence was observed, followed by the singing of "O Canada." Mrs. J. C. Cooke presided at the organ. The ladies of the Presbyterian and Anglican Churches united to form the choir.

An eloquent address was given by Rev. Samuel Lundie on "Universal Peace." After the service wreaths were placed on the cenotaph.

COBBLE HILL

COBBLE HILL, Nov. 13. — A service was held at the Community Hall on Sunday, conducted by Rev. Evan Baker, which was largely attended. Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster E. G. West, were present in a body. Many hymns were sung, accompanied by Mrs. Grainger. After the service a large wreath of poppies was placed on the memorial by Mrs. C. Wace, president of the Women's Institute.

A service was held at St. John's Church, Cobble Hill, on Sunday morning, conducted by Rev. W. Cockshott. The church was filled and Mr. Wheeton presided at the organ.

GIBBINS ROAD

GIBBINS ROAD, Nov. 13. — A Thanksgiving service was held at Vimy Hall on Sunday afternoon, by the Gibbins Road Sunday School. Both adults and children listened with interest to a helpful address from Mr. R. A. Thorpe, superintendent of the Duncan United Church Sunday School, on "Giving Thanks." Appropriate recitations were given by Clara Hansen, Janie Wilkin, Phyllis Weismiller, George Parlee, Donald, Cyril, and Bobbie Weismiller. Four of the senior girls, Edna Wilkin, Mary Blair, Hope Robson and Agnes Hansen sang "We Thank Thee."

CHEMAINUS

CHEMAINUS, Nov. 13.—An Armistice service was held at Chemainus on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, the service being held at St. Michael and All Angels' Church instead of at the war memorial, owing to the inclement weather. The congregation was large, and included several local organizations, Porter Chapter I.O.D.E., Girl Guides, Scouts, Cubs and Brownies, the latter four being accompanied by their respective leaders.

The service was conducted by Rev. B. E. Spurling and Rev. E. M. Cook. Hymns sung were: "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," "Lest We Forget," and the Twenty-Third Psalm. During the receiving of the colors, the first verse of "O Canada" was sung. At the conclusion of the church service, the congregation gathered at the war memorial, several wreaths being placed on it. The prayer for the dead was offered up, the singing of the National Anthem concluding the ceremony. In the evening special services were held in the Calvary Baptist Church and of St. Michael and All Angels'.

Fined for Trespass

NANAIMO, Nov. 12.—In the local Police Court yesterday morning, James J. Lippencott was fined $2.50, the minimum fine, for trespassing on the Aquarian Foundation property, on a charge laid by A. E. Wilson, the president of the foundation. The case was adjourned from last week, and was opened by F. S. Cuncliffe, counsel for Wilson, who told the court that in order to save time he would abandon the claim for damages, which were small sums.

FORM BRANCHES OF POULTRY POOL

Poultrymen Decide to Combine at Salt Spring Island and Courtenay, Respectively

COURTENAY, Nov. 9. — At a meeting in the Agricultural Hall annex on Thursday evening, it was decided to form a local of the B. C. Egg and Poultry Pool. Mr. Arthur Smith was elected president, Mr. E. A. Pritchard, secretary, who, with a committee composed of Messrs. W. A. B. Paul, H. T. F. Rossiter and J. W. Stalker, will make the preliminary arrangements. A resolution was passed recommending the holding of the annual meeting before the end of the present month, if possible, so that the permanent board of directors would have a chance to put the branch of the pool into operation by the New Year.

SALT SPRING, Nov. 9.—A meeting of poultrymen who have signed contracts with the B. C. Egg and Poultry Co-operative Association, was held in the Mahon Hall on November 6. Fourteen poultrymen out of a signed membership of twenty-five attended. It was resolved that, as there were twenty-five contracts signed, the members form themselves into the Salt Spring Island Local of the Egg and Poultry Co-operative Association.

Officers of the local were then elected and consisted of Messrs. H. A. Robinson, chairman; A. R. Price, treasurer; J. H. Lee, P. Lowther and Desmond Crofton.

The contracts now signed include 8,000 birds, but it is hoped to get more by an intensive canvass. It is expected that Mr. Wallace, one of the pool members, will shortly visit the island to help in this canvass.

Famous authority on intestinal tract

says "Yeast stimulates the intestine"

"CONSTIPATION is, with social disease and alcoholism, one of the three most dangerous diseases of civilization. Unfortunately constipation is generally treated with medications which irritate the intestine, poison the organism. Yeast, however, is a safe remedy. It stimulates the intestine and can be taken without harm. It also increases human vitality, and therefore, the health of human beings." • • •

Pauchet

DR. VICTOR PAUCHET of Paris, Surgeon of the Hospital of St. Michel and former professor of the School of Medicine at Amiens, is one of the most prominent of French physicians. He is the author of numerous medical works including "Constipation." He is a Commander of the Legion of Honor and a recipient of the Croix de Guerre with Palms.

DR. VICTOR PAUCHET, author and prominent physician of Paris, in an interview recently printed in leading newspapers, points to the dangers of constipation, which he classes as one of the three worst diseases of civilization. Yeast, however, he states, is a safe food remedy.

"Yeast stimulates the intestine," he says, "and is also a food rich in Vitamin B."

In a recent survey, half the doctors reporting said they prescribed this remarkable corrective food for constipation and all its attendant ills.

Clear skin, bright eyes, health, happiness, and success result if the entire intestinal tract is kept clean, active and healthy.

FROM THROAT TO COLON is one continuous tube. 90% of our ailments start in this tract, and here yeast works, combating poisons which collect in a clogged colon and preventing them from spreading to the rest of the system. For real health and happiness, keep this entire tract clean with Fleischmann's Yeast.

Fleischmann's Yeast is a fresh food. Unlike dried or killed yeast it contains millions of living, active yeast plants. As these live yeast plants pass daily through your intestinal tract they combat harmful poisons and purify the whole system.

Eat Fleischmann's Yeast three times a day, one cake before each meal or between meals, plain or in water (hot or cold). To get full benefit from yeast you must eat it regularly and over a sufficient period of time.

At all grocers and many leading cafeterias, lunch counters and soda fountains. Start today. The Fleischmann Company, 1170 Burrard Street, Vancouver, B. C.

RALLY CHECKS SLUMP DUE TO PROFIT-TAKING

Wave of Selling Depresses Prices to Point Where Stocks Attract Feverish Buying—Losses Cut

SEVERAL LEADERS RECORD NET GAINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A wave of profit-taking in the stock market today only served to depress prices to a point where stocks attracted further feverish buying, which carried total sales up to 5,387,400, almost to the new record of 5,670,000 shares established yesterday.

United States Steel, the traditional bell wether of the list, was brought forward by pool operators around midday to stem the tide of selling, and was lifted more than 4 points to a new high at 168 3-4. Radio, which had tumbled 12 points, more than regained its loss and touched 290 3-4, a new top, only to fall back to 279, a net loss of 9 points. National Tea, which had fallen 20 points, regained five. Montgomery Ward rose about 5 points, reacted 10, then rallied and closed practically unchanged.

Sears-Roebuck was sent soaring more than 17 points to a new peak at 189 5-8. Several new leaders for the movement were brought forth, including International Business Machine, International Cement, and Gold Dust, which were elevated about 5 to 8 points to record levels. Allis Chalmers, American Linseed common and preferred, Kayser & Company, Rossia Insurance, and Warner Brothers, rose 3 to 7 points.

Motors were generally heavy. Coppers generally sagged, although Greene Cananea made an extreme gain of about 9 points. American Smelting fell more than 6 points and closed about 2 points down. Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, Howe Sound and Inspiration eased.

International Nickel touched 201 for the first time.

Some of the rails were again brought forward. Katy mounted more than 2 points to a new top, while Erie made a like gain, and Rutland preferred forged ahead on announcement of resumption of dividends. Canadian Pacific, however, yielded to profit-taking, and Texas & Pacific lost 5 points.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and generally steady.

Prices moved irregularly in today's more active session of the bond market. Convertibles followed closely the movement of stock prices.

Earning-Saving-Investing

Remember large profits encourage competition.

It is poor policy for a business man to lift prices high enough to bring more competition into his field, in an attempt to make larger profits.

* * *

One thing is certain; the profits of business are not as large as the average man is likely to believe, because if profits in any one business become too enticing, more men and corporations come into that field. As a result oversupply causes a break in prices, and profits go down.

For instance, twenty years ago in the steel business, there was an average profit of about 17½ cents on each dollar of gross business. Today that profit has been cut to about 7½ cents on the dollar. Why? Because the former large profits attracted so many others into the business that the supply outstripped the demand.

The business man knows that if he lifts prices high enough for him to make an abnormal profit, he will be swamped with competition. Consequently he trys to cut his costs so that he can cut prices, and still make a fair profit. The wise business man figures on making a fair profit at the lowest price level possible.

Coast Breweries, Ltd.

(Dominion Charter)

CAPITALIZATION

Authorized: 250,000 Shares, No Par Value
Issued: 175,000 Shares

Coast Breweries Limited has been formed under the Laws of the Dominion of Canada, and owns practically all of the outstanding Capital Stocks of the:—

Westminster Brewery Limited
Rainier Brewing Company of Canada Ltd.
Victoria Phoenix Brewing Co. (1920) Ltd.
Silver Spring Brewery Company Ltd.

The constituent Companies have been in business for many years, and have built up an enviable reputation for the quality of their products. The Coast Breweries Limited is the largest brewing entity in the Province of British Columbia, and sells approximately fifty per cent of the Beer sold in British Columbia.

The amalgamation of the four constituent Companies into one operating unit, will effect very substantial savings in freight, overhead and general expenses, and this saving should accrue to the benefit of the stockholders of the Coast Breweries Limited.

ASSETS

As at September 30th, 1928, total net assets are shown in the Balance Sheet as $1,777,272 with current assets of $611,539.36 of which $228,218.64 was cash in hand and in Bank, indicating a very satisfactory financial condition, as current liabilities were only $87,432.97.

Based on the market price of other Canadian Brewery stocks the ordinary shares of the Coast Breweries Limited, should show a handsome appreciation in the near future.

The Coast Breweries, Ltd., and or its subsidiaries has no funded or mortgage debt or preferred stocks outstanding, the ordinary shares being the only capital obligation.

EARNINGS

The earnings of the constituent Companies for the last fiscal year of each, indicates net earnings for the Coast Breweries Limited of over $450,000 per annum, after depreciation and taxes, and after giving effect to non-recurring charges and estimated economies in operation. This would enable an 8% dividend to be paid on the ordinary shares of Coast Breweries Limited and put approximately $150,000 per year to reserves. Earnings should show a substantial increase as export business to the Far East and New Zealand is being rapidly developed.

DIVIDENDS

The Directors have declared their intention to place the stock on an initial annual dividend basis of $1.84 payable quarterly on 1st February, etc. This is equivalent to 8% on the issue price of $23.00 per share.

Winnipeg Grain

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—Wheat opened steady this morning and about unchanged from the close on Saturday, but prices advanced to almost one cent higher at midsession, the main feature being the very light offerings. Trade was not large at any time, but there appeared to be a little short covering going on with moderate commission house buying, based on the Canadian Government report which is due late this afternoon, and which is expected to show a decrease from its previous estimate in the Western Canadian wheat crop, due to the August frosts and lower gradings, and the sharp reduction made recently by the Alberta Government in the wheat crop of that province. Seaboard houses bought a little wheat this morning, but this business was very small and was possibly against old business.

Export business over the week-end and holiday was reported as very small and there was no evidence of any business locally. In the cash market there was a good demand for Nos. 4, 5 and 6 wheat, coming principally from terminal elevator interests. Spreads on No. 4 were one-quarter cent better than on Saturday, while on feed grade the spread was off one cent. Other grades were unchanged. There was not much change in the general news, but the Argentine weather is reported as unsettled with rains delaying harvesting in the North. Liverpool closed ⅝ to ¾ lower than on Saturday. The farmers of Western Canada continue to market wheat in a liberal manner.

Coarse grains: These markets, while firm, were more or less dull. There is a moderate domestic demand for oats and barley but there was nothing in the way of export business. Rye followed wheat, and there was some short covering in oats and rye. The trade anticipates some reduction in yields by the Government today. Barley receipts are fairly liberal but other grains are light.

Flax: The Government is expected to reduce its figures on flax production and this brought in a certain amount of short covering, and, offerings being light, buyers were forced to bid prices up to fill their requirements. Little interest is shown by crushers.

New Assistant General Manager of Royal Trust Has Been Manager of Montreal Branch

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—Mr. Ross Clarkson, manager of the company's Montreal branch for the past six years, was today appointed assistant general manager of the Royal Trust Company. He will also continue to manage the Montreal branch.

Mr. Clarkson entered the service of the company in 1908. He gained a wide experience in various departments of the local office before being appointed manager in 1922.

Born at Port Hope, Ontario, Mr. Clarkson came to Montreal at an early age, and was educated at the Montreal High School. He entered the employ of the Alliance Assurance Company in 1904, remaining with them for four years.

He is prominent in Montreal business circles, and is vice-president of the Canadian Club of Montreal. He is governor of the Montreal General Hospital. He enlisted with the 245th Battalion Canadian Grenadier Guards in 1916, and served in France with the Canadian Forestry Corps.

Mr. Clarkson has just returned from an extensive inspection of the company's branches at Vancouver, Victoria and other points in the West.

This appointment follows upon the recent promotion of Mr. R. P. Jellett to the general managership.

Mr. F. E. Meredith, K.C., has been named a director of the Royal Trust Company.

MR. ROSS CLARKSON

Who was yesterday appointed assistant general manager of the Royal Trust Company. He has been manager of the Montreal branch of the company since 1922, and will also continue in that capacity. He joined the Royal Trust Company at Montreal in 1908. Mr. Clarkson visited Victoria last month while on an inspection of the company's Western branches. Whitney Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, says: You were advised that while it was not anticipated that we were going to have any so-called break or reaction in the market, that quite a number of the high-priced industrials which had been engaged in a post-election celebration were due to either slow up or react, and that, as soon as the tendeency became evident, both the rail and oil groups would inaugurate advances. While there are a number of minus signs as a result of today's trading, the market can in no sense be called weak, and the prospect for this advance in the rail and oil groups remain excellent and will, undoubtedly, be much evidence tomorrow. For some little time from this point on extreme irregularity is going to characterize the movement of the industrials, with the industrial averages making but minor changes either up or down. In the utility, rail and oil groups, however, the trend should be rather uniformly upward. Money conditions have again become exceptionally easy with the inflow of gold gaining momentum and the amounts being imported carrying the total importations substantially beyond what was expected when you were advised that the export movement had stopped and that we were able to witness the return flow. There is no need to worry about money rates or credit conditions, for, if any changes are made in rediscount rates, you will find that these changes will be toward lower rates and not higher. I look for another irregular but nevertheless strong market tomorrow.

Gotham Knitbac Machine is still available below 20, consequently its purchase continues to be recommended. The Singer Sewing Machine Company has opened negotiations for the export rights for the company's product, thereby expressing an expert opinion on the company's future prospects. Sinclair Oil can be repurchased, as another installment of its move, which has as its long range objective a price of approximately $60, was initiated in yesterday's market. Union Carbide, after spending about a month within an approximate ten-point range, has likewise inaugurated a new phase of advance, and, such being the case, is again recommended for purchase under 200.

Mr. Cutten is making the market for Maytag, so quite undoubtedly it is headed higher. The only thing that can be added at this time to what has been said on Congoleum is that it should not be sold, and that, the longer you hold it, the more it will be worth. American Sugar has established a new top for the year and it is on its way to 90 or better. Continue to buy Standard Oil of New Jersey and Marland Oil, as well as Superior Oil while it is available below 12. Greene Cananea is proving to be the sensational performer of the copper group, and, as you were advised would be the case, United States Steel, at a new top, will continue to make new tops, as will Colorado Fuel & Iron, Republic Iron & Steel, and after a short time to consolidate ground gained. Vanadium.

Toronto Mines

(Supplied by R. F. Castle & Co., Ltd.)

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—No change was noted in the mining market on the resumption of trading this morning. Prices generally were softer, and the anticipated accumulation of buying orders of the holiday failed to materialize. Considerable numbers of mining traders have been weaned away to the Canadian and New York industrial markets, where tremendous trading is taking place at the present time. In the face of considerable liquidation in New York, International Nickel touched $200, the highest point yet attained by this colorful nickel producer. The new stock closed strong at 34.25-34.75.

Towagamac staged an advance early in the session to $3.25, closing at 3.20-3.25, up 45 points. It is rumored that Aldermac cut some very interesting copper ore on the 500-foot level over the week-end.

Noranda opened at 55.75, but it failed to hold, and eased off to 54.00, finishing at 54.10-54.25. Abana at 3.65 and Amulet at 2.83 showed little change. Bathurst at 35 bid was 4½ points easier from the day's high. At 91 to 93 Howey was off 4 points. Hudson Bay touched $19.00, but failed to hold, and finished at 18.70 bid. Jackson Manion at 35 bid, Murphy at 81 bid, and Malartic at 1.16 were all unchanged. Sherrit at 6.80 was off 15 points, while Sudbury Basin at 7.75 was a small trader. The oil stocks were inclined to be soft.

Mining News

By Miller, Court & Co. Ltd.

Income earned at Ruth Hope. According to reliable information Ruth Hope is building up treasury strength by over $700 daily. It is stated that at least $700 is going into the bank for every full day's operation of the mine. While figures have not been published, it is understood that the gross daily earnings amount to $1,000 a day, expenses totaling $300 a day. It is expected that some dividend policy will be decided upon at the annual meeting of the company in December. Work is proceeding rapidly on the new flotation unit that will increase the capacity of the mill from 50 to 75 tons a day.

Fabyan's well to be tested. According to latest reports from Fabyan Petroleum No. 1 well, it is expected that the casing will be set and drilling of the well to production will commence on Saturday. It is expected that the well will be given a thorough test for production within a week. The depth of the oil sand which is to be tested, is stated to be approximately nine feet. The company has given a certificate of clearance, assuring that the well is entirely free of water.

Latest reports from the Kootenay-Florence state there appears to be little doubt that ore showings disclosed in the Lake level tunnel on the property indicate the presence of the main objective. It is stated that the ore body so far revealed, is three feet thick, and is mostly lead with but little zinc showings. In breaking into the ore a water channel was also tapped, water coming so heavily that no examination of the new showing could be made for several days. The ore was disclosed 3,700 feet from the portal.

Rambler Mine enters mineral. Drifting on the Slocan Rambler has disclosed a showing of ore, according to latest reports from the property. The ore was disclosed in a drift from a crosscut driven south from the main tunnel level. It is stated that the drift has been in either a wide vein or shear zone for some time, and has occasionally passed through mineralized ground. The showing of mineral is considered favorable.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Recent buying in the raw sugar market apparently satisfied the more immediate needs of refiners and with a less active demand prices were easier today, under increased offerings.

Spot decline 1-16 to the basis of 3.89 duty paid. Sales were reported of 14,000 bags of Cuban from store to a local refiner. Refined sugar advanced 10 to 15 points, with fine granulated now quoted at 5.20 to 5.25. Demand was less active.

A FASTER telephone service to Alberta

NOW there is a faster telephone service between the Coast and Alberta, and the transmission is better, too, because a direct all-Canadian circuit has been opened between Vancouver and Calgary.

No longer do the voice currents have to make the journey down through the States of Washington and Montana in order to get from the Coast to Alberta. They go direct and fewer operators have to handle each call.

Business men will find the new service handy in reaching Alberta points quickly.

To provide the new circuit, five hundred miles of wire had to be strung across British Columbia and many technical difficulties had to be overcome.

The new service is available not only to Coast points, but also to such places as Kamloops, Merritt, Princeton, Hedley, Keremeos, Oliver, Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna, and Vernon.

Three Kinds of Service

1. STATION-TO-STATION. You call a number, but not a person, and you pay if you get the number.

2. PERSON-TO-PERSON. You call a person, and pay if you get him. Rate about 25% higher than station-to-station.

3. APPOINTMENT. You place a call on which you wish us to inform the called party that you will speak to him or her at a specified time. Rate about 50% higher than station-to-station.

Evening and Night Rates

Evening rate, station-to-station only, 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.: 25% lower than day.

Night rate, station-to-station only, 8:30 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.: 50% lower than day.

Latest News From Wall Street

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Advancing tendencies in the main body of stocks encountered the first real resistance since election in today's session. Profit taking developed on an active scale in various recent leaders and good sized recessions took place in the issues affected, notably Chrysler, Radio, General Motors, Allied Chemical and Union Pacific.

Transactions showed a noticeable disposition to decrease in volume whenever prices sold off. Instead of running more than an hour behind the market as it had been in recent hectic sessions, the tape kept within thirty minutes of the floor most of the day. Efforts by important banking people to keep the trading from getting out of hand had a sobering influence and encouraged the belief that a strong market might be maintained for some time if speculative issues are avoided.

Daily average crude oil output for week ended November 10, was 2,505,000 barrels, up 1,649 over previous week. Light oil increased 2,587 barrels.

The explanation most prevalent for the sudden wide spurts of Radio is that several shorts shoved the price up in covering. The present short interest in the stock is said to approximate 50,000 shares, which is about the same amount as the floating supply of the stock.

Negotiations for the sale of substantially all of the oil producing properties in California owned by the Petroleum Securities Company, which is controlled by E. L. Dohney and family, are now being conducted. The deal will probably be within the next few days.

South Penna Oil declared a 50 per cent stock dividend subject to approval of an increase in capital at annual meeting in January. Directors also declared an extra cash dividend of 25 cents and regular quarterly 50 cents, payable December 31, record December 15.

Willys Overland local agency reduces Whippet fours $50 and six-cylinder, $130. These are not factory reductions.

Spectacular advances which have been scored in many issues have meant enormous profits for enterprises such as American International. This corporation holds large amounts of various stocks which have been leaders of the advance, such as Montgomery-Ward, Radio and Barnsdall.

J. S. Bache & Co.—The imminence of a readjustment stage suggests the advisability of continuing the gradual liquidation of speculative holdings on a scale.

Hornblower & Weeks—We feel the market is fundamentally sound, and although well margined accounts are essential in this tremendous market, we would continue to hold and acquire stocks where the inherent merit warrants higher prices.

Chicago Grain

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Wheat—Argentine news, which is daily becoming more of a factor, and foreign advices generally, resulted in a firmer tone in wheat.

Broomhall, in his review, again made reference to India buying of Australian wheat and to the heavy consumption of wheat throughout Europe, with talk of Russia becoming an importer, while press reports from Moscow spoke of further food shortage. There was considerable short covering during the day.

Export demand was moderate, but included a cargo of hard winters. As we have suggested, Argentine advices may perhaps be the most potent factor in indicating the trend of prices for some time to come and for this reason we consider the following illuminating statement by Mr. Cromwell as particularly opportune: "A study of growing weather conditions in past years in the Argentine shows heavy damage to quality from head blight, moulds and diseases other than rust if the filling maturing season shows above normal rainfall. This damage is far in excess of similar damage from similar cause in the United States."

"Conditions this year in our opinion, indicate a heavy test weight crop of poor milling quality in the northern three-fifths of that country, due to unusually heavy blights from too much rain and six degrees and one degree below normal temperatures during weeks ending October 29 and November 5, respectively.

"Cool weather is requisite currently and for the next two weeks, if milling quality is to be fair. Rust damage promises to exceed moderate in its total effect and a good-sized crop is assured. The quality is especially important since foreign purchases of North American wheat are being partially delayed hoping for beter quality crop surplus in the Argentine."

Corn — Corn was persistently bought the greater part of the session, and, while there was heavy profit taking on the way up, March and May sold at new high levels, on the crop, while the cash market was lower here, prices at outside markets were higher. Down-state points reported bids for corn for export and the demand for corn at southern points was said to be good. The seaboard, however, did not indicate any takings for foreign account.

New York Stock Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. — The market in the forenoon contended with heavy liquidation, under which values worked downward. The decline, however, was checked by the appreciation of heavy buying orders in United States Steel, which was rallied in a new high for the year. Green Cananea became the prominent feature in the copper section, crossing its previous high on reports that 17 cents copper metal prices are shortly to be announced. Mexican Seaboard, which was offered freely, showed excellent recuperative powers in the afternoon, oils otherwise were affected by realizing sales. Motors showed a tendency to recover following early unsettlement. Radio was in early supply, but was rallied sharply in the late afternoon, though in the specialty group Sears Roebuck continued as the afternoon feature, crossing its previous high level.

Domestic oil production this week increased 1,600 barrels over last week. Stocks of crude oil held in Eastern pipe linse showed a falling off during October of over 400,000 barrels. The marking up of strip steel prices of $2 a ton in Pittsburgh was the forerunner of the active buying of steel shares. Also the news of additional gold shipments to arrive was a factor looked upon as favorable.

The market, though showing good absorptive powers, reflected for a time today the burdensome character of liberal distribution, which is a growing factor to contend with. Coppers, oils and steels are still popular and continue to attract a large outside figure. Would take advantage of the rallies in the industrial favorites to reduce long holdings.

News of the Mines

(From Solloway, Mills & Co., Vancouver, through R. F. Castle & Co., Ltd.)

Pioneer—After eliminating free gold, channel assays up to $50 a ton have been obtained on the Jubilee break on Pioneer Mines, which is reported to be running in very rich sections. A twenty-five-ton test mill is being installed for the purpose of gauging the average content of the seventy-five-foot winze ore body in which these spectacular sections occur. Jubilee Lake is being pumped out in order that the crosscut to the ore body can be continued to the hanging wall, which has indicated rich ore with diamond drilling.

Tec Hughes was another of the big Kirkland Lake producers that issued its annual report yesterday. The most noticeable feature of this report was the reduction in costs of from $9.60 the previous year, to $6.32 per ton milled for this year. Gold production to August 31 was $4,584,443, an increase of about $2,430,000 over the previous year. The net operating profit was $2,836,512, up nearly $1,800,000. Net operating profit was $10.25 per ton. Liquid assets were approximately $2,000,000. The mine was chiefly developed on the six new levels from the fourteenth to the nineteenth. Excellent average grades and good stoping widths were experienced on all six levels.

Lake Shore—The annual report of Lake Shore Mines was given out yesterday, and showed that the gold production for the twelve months ending June 30 last was $3,629,317.57. This is an increase of approximately $525,000 over the previous year. Current assets of the company amounted to $1,466,436.17. Net profits were approximately $1,680,000, or $120,000 greater than the previous year. Dividends during the period amounted to $1,600,000. The only disappointing feature of the report was the statement by President Harry Oakes that the present capacity of about 1,000 tons a day was not to be changed. This was a surprise to those who had visualized a large increase in milling facilities for the year 1929. Efforts are to be directed towards deeper development, so that the ore may be left in the upper levels for the purpose of greater safety.

Mexican Premier Mines—The following has been received from the secretary of the Mexican Premier Mines by the Vancouver Stock Exchange: "There has been a temporary injunction issued restraining this company from transferring any Mexican Premier shares registered in the name of Thomas D. Long, of Los Angeles. This is in connection with some lowsuit in which we have no interest."

Porter-Idaho—It is reported from the field that work on the Porter-Idaho tramway has stopped for the Winter. It will be completed next Summer.

A.B.C. BROADCASTS MUSICAL NUMBERS

Programme Today Includes Classics and Overtures Played by the American Salon Orchestra

"Sakuntala Overture," by Goldmark, will be the initial offering of the American Salon Orchestra over the Northwest stations of the ABC chain this evening between 9 and 10 o'clock, playing under the direction of Francesco Longo, eminent Italian pianist and conductor. This overture is one of the most popular of Goldmark's compositions, and is purely a concert overture and not an operatic introduction.

The programme includes Dvorak's celebrated "Humoresque," popular because of its light and catchy opening melody and flowing dance-like rhythm, and its slower second theme, "Valse Caprice," by Rubinstein, and "Norwegian Rhapsody," by Svendsen.

The vocalists on this programme are Hayden Morris, Welsh basso, and Sydney Dixon, tenor, who will sing a group of announced solos.

This programme originates in the studios of KJR in Seattle, and is being released simultaneously over KGA, Spokane and KEX, Portland.

Milton, aged seven, was fishing with his father. Evidently he had on former occasions been impressed with some of the angling yarns told by his parent, for when returning home empty-handed, he said: "Say, dad, how many fish shall we tell mother got away?"

The "Spirit" of the Three Musketeers

Keep it Handy as an Emergency Measure

In case of sickness or accident, it is wise to keep a bottle of Hennessy Brandy handy.

"Gentlemen, be one of us!"

Picture the Three Musketeers — Athos, Porthos and Aramis — seated in a wine shop. A spit, burdened with partridges, turns before the fire. The swords of the three friends rasp from their scabbards as the Cardinal's Guards suddenly appear. The fight is on . . . they must cut their way to freedom. Those brave spirits of old France . . . each with faith in his star and the three stars pinned on high with the points of their glittering rapiers.

PERSONALITY AND ACTION

Personality, once a matter of chance development, is now an art cultivated to some extent by the flappers and sheiks from all ages between six and sixty. Much of our success in the world depends upon our ability to make others like us. This force of character has been given the term of "personality" and consists of a combination of many qualities such as physical appearance, education, tone and modulation of the voice, spirit, human interests, neatness, gestures, attitudes friendliness, cheerfulness, etc.

Fortunately, everyone's personality is capable of improvement. One should be able to examine himself or herself critically and note shortcomings and strive to improve these. When there is some handicap which cannot be overcome, such as shortness of stature, other qualities should be developed which will make one liked in spite of the defect.

It is well known that some of the greatest men in history were short men, and some of the most liked and charming women are not beautiful to look at. But when these people with personality begin to move and speak, their blemishes disappear. They appear beautiful, personified with life.

Everybody likes to be liked. Therefore, one of the first secrets of a successful personality is to see the favorable qualities in other people's characters. Cultivate an interest in the best, both in books and friends.

The framework upon which your personality is built is health, and the life of your personality is controlled and directed energy. Health and knowledge of eating, sleeping and exercising are indispensable.

To those who do not have confidence in themselves I would like to quote this old saying, fraught with meaning: "If you do a thing, you will have the power." When a desire is strong enough to stimulate the body to activity, one seems to find strength for its accomplishment. This power comes from some other source than mere food and drink. A man may live a humdrum life for years, and then suddenly he develops some overwhelming ambition; he will find in himself more power than he ever before suspected.

This is also true after a prolonged illness when the body's forces are so low that conditions seem hopeless. If some strong stimulation comes in, such as the return of a loved one or the discovery of some problem that the patient wishes to accomplish, recovery often takes place in an almost miraculous manner.

Under the influence of hypnosis, subjects have been known to do things which they would never have believed possible in their waking hours. An insane man has been known to overpower several much stronger men than himself. Why can we not liberate these powers for everyday use? There seems to be only one obstacle. We do not have the confidence in our own capacities.

Energy seems to be omnipresent and all that is necessary to obtain it in any desired quantity is to remove the barriers of our conflicting ideas by the cultivation of helpful, constructive suggestions to our subconscious mind.

LIBERAL LEADER TO BE ELECTED

Provincial Liberal Executive to Meet in December to Choose House Leader

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—Choice of a Liberal leader to direct the opposition activities in the next session of the Legislature will be made early in December, it is announced by prominent members of the B.C. Liberal Association executive. Mrs. M. E. Smith, president of the association, will call the executive together immediately after the Victoria by-election, which is now engaging the attention of the leading party workers.

About 130 are entitled to attend the executive meeting. All Federal and Provincial Parliamentary representatives and defeated candidates at the last election, the presidents of provincial constituency associations, six special delegates from Vancouver and four from Victoria, as well as actual office holders, constitute the executive membership. It is not contemplated that the leader chosen by this gathering shall be regarded as the permanent leader of the party. A general convention will be arranged for in a year or two to elect the permanent leader to captain the forces at the next provincial election, it is said.

DROWN FROM CANOE

THE PAS, Man., Nov. 13.—The finding of a worn and battered canoe which drifted ashore on Clearwater Lake, seventeen miles north of here, has led to the belief that Hjalmar Hjalmarson, fifty, and William Anderson, twenty-six, fishermen, had lost their lives by drowning, sometime Monday.

Hjalmarson and Anderson left The Pas to tend to their nets in Clearwater Lake, and it is presumed that the canoe upset while one of the men was attempting to haul in a net, that they lost their footing on the icy bottom of the canoe, and plunged to their death in the cold waters.

The water was very rough at the time.

UNKIND

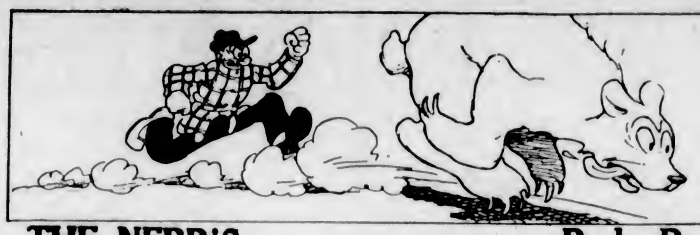

Young Wife—I'm run down in health. I think I'll hire a cook and husband my strength.

Husband—Yes, do, dear, and strengthen your husband.

Sub-Editor—I see here that a naval officer was badly cut in opening a wine bottle. What kind of heading shall I put to it?

BOAT BATTLES SMASHING SEA

Ruth B. Arrives at Port Alberni With Water Barrels Swept Overboard and Water Up to Portholes

CREW HAS ROUGH TIME MAKING PORT

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 13.—One of the few Canadian boats to be damaged by the storms which have been raging on the West Coast of the Island was the Ruth B., which limped into port here on Saturday, carrying a load of assorted liquors.

She was permitted to enter as a ship in distress.

The crew of eight was reluctant to discuss experiences, but the state of the boat showed signs of the battle which must have been fought. From information gathered, she carried fourteen drums of water on her afterdeck when she cleared from Vancouver, her home port. All went well until west of Barclay Sound, when, with great suddenness, the storm struck her.

An effort was made to seek shelter, but before this could be accomplished the drums of water started to break loose, and as one drum after another went, the bow of the boat began to settle. She was well loaded, in fact her portholes were just above the water line. In a very short time all the drums of water, together with fourteen cases of champagne, which was part of her deck load, were washed overboard, and with her bow lower in the water than her stern, things looked serious.

The storm grew worse. Instead of whitecaps breaking over her, green seas were smashing down on her pilothouse. Everything had been washed from the afterdeck, and the rear deck railing had been carried away when the drums went. One large sea smashed in the window in the pilothouse, and then, what every seaman fears worst of all, she began to take water and the pumps failed to work.

An emergency had arisen which caused the captain to consult the crew as to whether it would be safer to throw over the 300-pound anchor, which was on the bow and helping to keep it down. It was decided to keep the anchor in case the boat should reach land. Luck, together with good seamanship, helped to bring the boat safely into port.

It was a worn and tired-out crew which tied up at the C.P.R. wharf. The only one who could smile was the Chinese cook.

The police boat is tied up alongside to see that no liquor is landed.

SEATTLE, Nov. 13.—The freighters Iconium and Alloway, which were purchased from the Shipping Board by Mr. C. P. Cox, of Seattle, will load 4,000,000 feet of lumber each next week for Japan. They will both be scrapped in the Orient.

With 1,500 tons of Chile nitrate, the freighter Capac is due at James Island on Thursday morning, according to King Brothers, shipping agents. The ship has been delayed since last Thursday at Coos Bay, being unable to cross the bar.

JASPER HAS BIG TOURIST TRAVEL

120 Sleeping Rooms Will Be Added to Popular Mountain Lodge by Next Year

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—People of twenty-five countries outside of Canada were among the total of more than 7,500 guests registering at Jasper Park Lodge, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, for the past season, and so great was the number unable to secure accommodation that the management has decided to build nine more guests' sleeping buildings which will provide 120 more rooms This announcement was made by Walter Pratt, general manager of hotels, sleeping and dining cars for the Canadian National Railways, in reviewing the season's business at the Summer hotels of the National system.

The completion of the golf course and improvements since its opening have made this one of the most popular mountain resorts on the continent, said Mr. Pratt, and an evidence of the high standard of the course, which has been constructed in the Athabaska Valley adjacent to Jasper Park Lodge, was found in the decision to hold the Canadian amateur open golf championship over this course in August.

Every province in Canada, and the Yukon as well, was represented among the more than 2,500 Canadian guests registered at the Lodge during the season. There were more than 3,000 registrations from the United States, with California leading the list of a total of twenty-two states.

Approximately 250 guests registered from England, 163 from Australia, seventy-five from New Zealand, twenty from Scotland, and seven each from Hawaii and Japan. Other countries represented were Ireland, France, Germany, West Indies, Africa, India, Portugal, Argentine Republic, Mexico, Denmark, Persia, Newfoundland, Sweden, Switzerland and Alaska.

Special tour parties which visited Jasper National Park during the season included more than 7,500 persons, representative of Canada, United States, and the British Isles, and an indication of the business which may be expected for next season is found in the fact that eleven special parties, each numbering from seventy to one hundred persons, have made definite reservations for dates during the coming season.

The number of guests remaining at Jasper Park Lodge for long periods is steadily increasing.

TRAMP STEAMERS ARE DOING WELL

Japanese Vessels Make Good Time Crossing Pacific From America With Freight

TOKIO, Nov. 13.—The business centre of Japanese shipping is moving from Kobe to Tokio, as influential shipowners have changed or are going to change their head offices to Tokio and Yokahama. The Mitsui Bussan Kaisha and the Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha already have removed their shipping departments from Kobe to Tokio and the Yamashita Steamship Company, one of the most influential tramp shipowners, is following suit.

Superior Japanese tramp steamers on the transpacific service are yielding satisfactory results in their speed. The Ibukisan Maru, which had its engine repaired recently, completed the Yokohama-San Francisco service, 5,500 nautical miles, in fifteen days and seventeen hours. The Shunten Maru, Diesel-engined ship, covered the Osaka-Seattle service, 4,300 nautical miles, in sixteen days and sixteen hours. The Bordeaux Maru turbine-engine ship, complete the Yokohama-San Francisco trip in thirteen days and three hours, and another Diesel-engine ship, Taihei Maru, in fourteen days and sixteen hours.

The Kokusai Kisen is planning a 9,500 ton freighter with a speed of fifteen knots to be placed on the transpacific run. The Mitsui Bussan Kaisha is reported to have ordered two ships, each 10,000 tons, with a speed of sixteen knots. They are the Hakubasan Maru and Hakone Maru types, it is said. These ships will be placed on the transpacific route.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Bonnthees drydock add 20 feet to the height of high water as above given.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES PRESENT IDEAS

Results of Recent Convention of Trustees Are Laid Before Executive Council

Yesterday afternoon the opportunity was taken by a representative committee from the School Trustees' Association of British Columbia to wait upon the Minister of Education, Hon. J. Hinchliffe, to discuss with him the subject matter of the requests that that body is asking of the Government this comming session. The list of requests was contained in the resolution passed at the last convention of the body. Mr. Hinchliffe heard them, and discussed with the delegation the requests.

It was promised by the minister that these would be given careful consideration at his hands in shaping up legislation that would be submitted to the Government for approval.

The requests this year are not of a radical nature. They have been fully considered by the convention of school trustees and now are in the hands of the minister for deliberation with the officials of his department before a decision is reached as to the best means of attaining the desires of the convention, or whether all the recommendations are such as can be complied with. Among those who attended the conference yesterday were Mr. P. B. Hobbs, of Saanich, president of the association; Mrs. T. A. Barnard, of Nanaimo; Mr. George A. Grant, solicitor, of Burnaby; and Mr. A. L. McWilliams, of Vancouver.

DR. SANFORD WILL DELAY CHANGE

Head of Columbian College Is to Remain With Institution Until Next Summer

The announcement of the retirement of Dr. A. M. Sanford from the principleship of the Columbian College at New Westminster, and his acceptance of a chair in the new Union College affiliated with the University of British Columbia is not to take effect until after the close of the college year next Spring. This will afford the retiring head of the Columbia College the opportunity to wind up the year's work in the institution with which he has been identified for sixteen years, and to assist his successor in getting into harness.

He will hold the chair of Religious Education and Christian Ethics. He will also have charge of extension work of the Union Bible College, conducting evening classes in the development of religious education among the church Sunday school teachers in the city of Vancouver.

The new appointment will not take effect until September 1, 1929, and in the meantime, Dr. Sanford will continue his work at Columbian College until the graduation exercises next Spring, after which he will spend several weeks straightening up his affairs and discussing matters with his successor, who is yet to be appointed.

The work at Union College is in line with the inclinations of Dr. Sanford, who has fought a hard battle in administration work at Columbian College, especially during the war, when finances which ordinarily would have been devoted to the college work were devoted to national objectives and the winning of the war.

During the period he has been in New Westminster, Dr. Sanford has found time to devote to semi-civic matters. He has taken an active part in the work of the Kiwanis Club, has been vice-president of the R. A. & I. Society, and has been a member of two conciliation boards in labor disputes. One of these was that between the teachers and the School Board, and he was also connected with the settlement of the dispute between the City Council and the firemen.

FRASER RIVER TO BE CROSSED AT QUESNEL

Work on Substructure Is Reported to Be Making Satisfactory Progress

The information received by the Department of Public Works from Quesnel is that the work on the substructure of the bridge across the Fraser at that point is progressing very satisfactorily. The weather conditions in the Cariboo have been exceptionally fine this Fall, with the result that the putting in of the piers have been little hindered.

The first two piers from the town of Quesnel side are now well advanced. There are still the remaining two on the other side of the river to be commenced.

With the weather conditions ideal for this time of the year, good progress is being made, and there is no hindrance from high water or other climatic difficulties.

The starting of the superstructure will depend entirely upon the progress that is made with the putting in of the subwork. It is impossible to say just now when this work will be undertaken.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 13.—Foiled in an attempt to kill Jose de Leon Toral in revenge for the assassination of his uncle, Captain Jesus Obregon tonight returned to his home here and committed suicide. He had been disarmed when he drew a pistol at the door of the cell in which the convicted slayer of General Alvaro Obregon, President-Elect of Mexico, is confined.

Mr. Magrath to Retire

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—The Mail and Empire said yesterday, after nearly forty years of public life, C. A. Magrath has intimated to Premier Ferguson his desire to relinquish by next Spring the chairmanship of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Mr. Magrath was appointed in September, 1925, as successor to Sir Adam Beck, who had been chairman of the commission since its organization.
